DEMOCRATS IN 'SITDOWN STRIKE'

County Sheriff Asks Photo Ban Action Dismissal

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Counsel for the Westmoreland County sheriff asked federal court today to dismiss an action challenging the constitutionality of the county court's ban on taking news pictures in certain areas of the courthouse.

H. Reginald Belden, attorney for Sheriff Howard Thomas, told U.S. District Judge Wallace S Gourley, the sheriff merely was carrying out a valid order of the Westmoreland court when he tried to prevent news cameramen from taking pictures of John Wesley Wable, phantom slayer of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, in 1954

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette and the Greensburg Tribune - Review, together with seven of their officials and employes, had asked Gourley to rule the picture ban violated freedom of the press.

The seven individual petitioners were convicted of contempt and fined for surreptitiously photographing Wable in a courthouse corridor at the time he was sentenced to death. Wable since has been executed.

Asks Dismissal

Belden asked dismissal of the newspaper's petition on grounds:

—The U.S. Supreme Court's refusal to hear an appeal from the Pennsylvania courts in the contempt case was in effect a final judgment on the issues

—No federal issue is involved because the case had been adequately adjudicated on the state level.

All parties in the case agreed that the right to take pictures in the courtroom proper was not sought Judge Gourley emphasized he would confine his consideration only to the ban on pictures in corridors and other places outside the courtroom.

Belden also argued that if an injunction were issued, the sheriff would be placed in the position of violating either the federal or the Westmoreland order.

Gourley interrupted to say that even if he issued an injunction against the photo ban, he would "not send a fine man like Bud Thomas to jail."

Outlies Procedure

"If I issue an injunction and Thomas violates it, I would fine him $1 and then certify the case for appeal." Gourley said. "I believe the judges in Westmoreland County would do the same thing."

The case involves the photo ban imposed by Westmoreland County Judge Edward G. Bauer during the murder trial of John Wesley Wable, the since-executed "phantom killer of the Pennsylvania Turnpike," in 1954.

Two newspapers which made a test case of the ban by taking courthouse corridor pictures of Wable at his sentencing in December, 1954, have asked federal court for an order blocking West-

Telephone Calls From Pittsburgh Thwart Suicide

PALO ALTO, Calif. (UP)—Two quick telephone calls from Pittsburgh were credited today with thwarting the suicide attempt of a young Lockheed aircraft worker separated from his wife.

Howard Beatty, 23, telephoned his friend Byron Painter, 30, of Pittsburgh Wednesday to talk to him for the "last time."

Just before he hung up Beatty said he was going to commit suicide by slashing his wrists.

Painter immediately called Beatty's wife, Janice, in Los Angeles and learned that Beatty was staying at the Holiday Inn, about 50 miles south of San Francisco.

A second quick call to Mountain View police sent an emergency squad rushing to the inn.

There police found Beatty with his wrists slashed and they rushed him to Palo Alto Hospital.

Dr. Alec S. MacKenzie said Beatty was "upset and needs psychiatric care."

"I think he cut his wrists to attract attention and sympathy from his estranged wife," MacKenzie said.

The doctor said Beatty had slashed his wrists the previous night "but didn't do much damage."

Wildcat Strikes Close Chrysler Parts Plant

DETROIT (UP)—Wildcat walkouts struck a Chrysler Corp. parts plant Wednesday and idled 3,000 workers. If the walkout continued today Plymouth assembly lines were expected to be shut down and 20,000 men sent home.

A Chrysler spokesman said the dispute was touched off by the disciplinary layoffs two days ago of a chief steward. Norman Matthews, vice president of the United Auto Workers, said the walkouts were "not sanctioned or authorized by the international union."

Some 800 workers walkde off their jobs on the afternoon shift Tuesday and another 00 followed on the night shift. The day shift of 2,400 reported to work Wednesday but walked out in the afternoon. Twelve-hundred afternoon workers went home early Wednesday and 400 on the midnight shift failed to report.

Tom D'Errico

Tom D'Errico Is Recreation Director Here

Tom D'Errico, of 121 Schoonmaker Ave., Monessen is the city's new Recreation Director.

His appointment was announced today by Stephen Pfeister, chairman of the Recreation Board.

D'Errico will succeed former Pittsburgh Steeler star George Nicksich, who resigned last month to enter private business.

The new director will begin his duties immediately.

D'Errico is well-known in city sports circles. He graduated from Monessen High School in 1940 where he participated in both wrestling and baseball

After 52 months in the Navy during World War II, D'Errico was a popular amateur boxer, fighting under Monessen Raven colors He also had 30 bouts in the service

Married and the father of two daughters, D'Errico holds a bachelor's degree in physical education from the University of Pittsburgh

He was formerly employed with the Monessen Southwestern Railroad.

In announcing D'Errico's appointment the Recreation Board stated that Frederic Feldman will continue as special events director

Seek Damages Involving Son

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Clanton, of Donora, have entered suit in Washington County courts as the result of an accident involving their five-year-old son, Jeffrey.

The parents filed suit to recover more than $2,500 from Anthony Haller, of 225 Meldon Ave., Donora.

The alleged accident occurred at 7 p. m., July 16, 1956, on a Donora street.

The complaint states that while the child was crossing the street he was struck by an automobile driven by Haller.

Girard Hopes Up

U. S. Judge Wants to Study Case

WASHINGTON (UP)—A federal judge today directed U.S. authorities to show cause why an American soldier accused of slaying a Japanese woman should not be returned to the United States.

The soldier, Army Specialist 3c William S. Girard of Ottawa, Ill., is about to be turned over to the Japanese for trial there on charges of killing the Japanese woman while she was scavenging on an Army firing range.

Federal Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy directed U.S. authorities to show cause after Girard's attorneys petitioned him to order Girard's immediate return to the United States. The lawyers held that the shift to Japanese courts was illegal and unconstitutional.

McGarraghy said he could not do so without a "more complete record"

More Hearings

Accordingly, he ordered more hearings next Monday to determine whether Girard should be returned to the United States.

The action means U.S. authorities must show cause why an order for Girard's return should not be issued.

McGarraghy signed papers whereby Girard will be retained in U.S. custody until the habeas corpus issue is resolved.

The Japanese trial is now set for June 21.

Girard's attorney, Earl J. Carroll of New York, argued that the soldier is being made "a sacrificial lamb merely for the purpose of appeasement."

Carroll said that, even granting that Japanese courts are as good as those in the United States, the case sets a precedent for all soldiers wherever they are sent Carroll contended that the mishap took place in an area equivalent to a U.S. Army base where Japan has no jurisdiction.

On the other hand, US attorney Oliver Gasch argued that the area is not a military base but merely a section reserved for part time use of U.S. troops. He said the Japanese army uses the same area at other times.

Girard's term of service expired last February. Apparently if he once got to this country he would be in civilian status and out of the jurisdiction not only of Japanese courts but of U.S. military authorities as well. The Supreme Court has ruled that ex-servicemen may not be returned to military custody to be tried for crimes committed while in uniform.

PRAY FOR GI HELD IN JAPAN — The Girard family at home in Ottawa, Ill., prays that Army Specialist 3-c William S. Girard will come home a free man to occupy that empty chair. He is the GI scheduled for trial by a Japanese court on manslaughter charges in the killing of a Japanese woman on a gunnery range. Rider Takes Stand In Extortion Trial

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The government called its key witness today in the prosecution of Nicholas A. Stirone, a top official of the Laborers' union who is accused of extorting $31,274 from a Pittsburgh building supplies dealer

The witness was the alleged victim, William G. Rider, who charged that he was coerced into paying the union leader a loyalty of 50 cents a cubic yard on ready-mixed concrete delivered to a construction job at the Allenport plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co

Stirone, president of Local 1058, International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union, was indicted for violating the Hobbs Anti-racketeering Act by obtaining money through "wrongful use of labor disputes and threats"

In an opening statement to the jury of eight women and four men Wednesday, US Asst Atty. Leonard J. Paletta said that in 1951, Rider had received a telephone call at his concrete-mixing plant at Belle Vernon summoning him to a meeting with Stirone.

Payments Recorded

According to Paletta, when Rider met Stirone, the union official declared: "If I don't get 50 cents a cubic yard I'll see that you don't hold this contract" The contract provided that Rider was to supply ready-mixed cement to Ragnar Benson, Inc., which held the general contract for the steel mill job.

Rider made the payments by check, Paletta said, and entered them in his books as commissions. The payments were declared on Rider's income tax returns, the prosecutor said.

When Rider delayed his payments, Stirone "hounded" him, but when the building supplies firm went into bankruptcy, Stirone made no effort to collect $1,400 due at the time, according to Paletta. The prosecutor added that the alleged extortion "was a contributing factor" to Rider's bankruptcy

House Members Fight It Out Over Budget

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader said today he did not dictate House Democratic strategy to withhold support of funds for state-aided institutions pending action by the Senate on regular budget needs, but concurred in the move.

He said the Democratic action, described as a "sitdown strike" by Republicans, was decided upon when he met with Democratic leaders early this week.

"I did not make the proposal and I don't recall I commented on it," he said at his news conference. "I certainly concur in what they decided. I think our Democratic members are ready to stay put for awhile and fight it out. I am too."

The governor said he believed it was obvious that preferred appropriations covering regular state governmental needs and slashed by GOP leaders have "priority" over so-called non-preferred allocations still in the House for hospitals, universities and other private institutions.

Asked how long the House Democrats plan to block passage of the non-preferred appropriations, the governor replied:

"It depends a lot on how things shape up in the Senate."

Holding the whip hand because the special appropriations require a two-thirds majority, the Democrats solidly opposed a Republican move to enact 24 million dollars for state-aided hospitals at Wednesday's legislative sessions. The 122 GOP votes for the bill were 18 short of the number needed for passage.

Governor Accused

House Democratic Leader Albert S Readinger (Berks) conceded that eventually there will be Democratic votes for the "non-preferred" appropriations. But he insisted they will not be forthcoming until the Democrats know how much money is going to be restored by the Senate Republicans to the General Appropriation Bill.

House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean) charged the move to withhold Democratic votes for the special appropriations was dictated by Gov. George M. Leader.

"The long arm of the executive has reached into the House to tell you what to do," Johnson said. "The governor is guilty of an abuse of the legislative process—he has called for a sitdown strike on these appropriation bills."

But Readinger contended that the Democratic caucus made the decision and that the governor was merely informed of the impending action.

The House Democrats were forced to wait another 24 hours to see what shape the Senate Republicans would report the General Appropriations Bill to the floor. The bill was supposed to emerge Wednesday but some Republican senators insisted that cuts made by the House in certain appropriations be restored.

Major opposition was to the slashes made in the funds for industrial development and slum clearance throughout the state

13 Killed in North Carolina Traffic Crash

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (UP)—A tractor trailer truck loaded with potatoes smashed into a truck crowded with migrant workers at a busy highway intersection nine miles north of here today, killing 13 persons and injuring at least 25 others.

The injured were rushed to Highsmith and Cape Fear Valley hospitals here and to a hospital at nearby Dunn.

The Highway Patrol and Sheriff L. L. Guy both placed the dead at 13, but they were widely varied on the injured. The patrol said 25 were injured and the sheriff 41.

The patrol said the wreck occurred at the intersection of U.S. 301 and N.C. 102, noted for several bloody mishaps in the past, shortly before 7 a.m.

The truck of migrant Negro workers was bound from Mt. Olive, N.C., to Dunn for the workers to pic kbeans. Authorities said it apparently failed to halt at a stop sign at the intersection and was rammed in the side by the tractor-trailer, en route from Fayetteville to Dunn with a load of potatoes.

The truck with the migrants aboard overturned and burned. Reports said the driver and two persons in the cab of the truck were killed.

Paper Company Buys Plant at West Jeannette

Papercraft Corp. of Pittsburgh has completed negotiations for the purchase of the vacant Fort Pitt Brewing Co. property in Jeannette, it was announced today.

Title for the former brewery at West Jeannette will be taken June 30, Joseph M. Katz, Papercraft president, said. Papercraft is a leading manufacturer of gift wrapping papers, foils, ribbons and trim.

Included in the sale will be about six acres, containing about 15 buildings, including a three-story bottling plant, a six-story brewery, garage, warehouse, paint-and-repair shop, railroad siding, and loading dock for trucks.

Price was not disclosed.

Generator Fire Damages Bus

A generator which became overheated was blamed for a bus fire on Dawson Rd., near Scottdale, yesterday which resulted in damage estimated at "several hundred dollars."

A spokesman of Perry Bus Co., of Perryopolis, said the bus was on its way to pick up passengers when the blaze broke out. Damage to the 41-passenger vehicle was confined to the wiring and to a rear seat

Scottdale Vol. Fire Dept. was called to the scene, about 1½ miles south of the community.

Minor Fire at Local Page Plant

Monessen firemen were called to extinguish a minor fire at the Monessen Page plant, American Chain & Cable Co., Inc., yesterday about 1:15 p. m.

Sparks from a burning woodpile landed on a flat car loaded with refuse lumber, damaging some of the lumber and the car floor

Firemen had the flames extinguished in 15 minutes.

Library Board Approves $14,600 Budget

The board of directors of the Monessen Civic Library Association yesterday approved a budget for 1957-58 calling for expenditures of $14,600.

This represents an increase of about $2,000 over the expenses for the current fiscal year which ends June 30. Higher staff salaries account for almost all of the increase.

Librarian Vivian L. Drake was authorized by the directors to attend a meeting of the American Library Association in Kansas City later this month.

Tentative plans for Monessen's new library building are being presented for discussion and criticism at the ALA meeting, and the directors felt the Library would benefit from Miss Drake's attendance.

The plans will be presented by J. Russell Bailey, of Orange, Va., architect for the new building.

Library President Charles C. Throop announced the appointment of standing committees for the new year. The committees and the chairmen are as follows:

Budget, Edwin A. Dawson; Books, Margaret Russell; Membership, John Kotch Jr. and Harvey W. Seymour, co-chairmen; House, Dr. R. E. Palmer Jr.; Building, Harry R. Pore Jr., and Personnel, Sam D. Stern.

GIFT FOR LIBRARY — A three-volume Encyclopedia of Names was presented to the Monessen Public Library yesterday by the Page Federal Credit Union in honor of Cyrus N. Johns, president of American Chain & Cable Co., who was guest of honor in Monessen Tuesday. Clifford Jones (left), president of the Credit Union, presented the books to Charles C. Throop, Library president. At right is Stephen Spontak, a director of the Credit Union. A standard reference work, the Encyclopedia lists thousands of names together with their origins and histories.

Legislators Need Guts, Leader Tells Reporters

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader said today state senators should get out of their seats in the General Assembly and "have the guts to see what is going on" in mental hospitals before they agree on cuts in his budget requests for the state Welfare Department.

The governor made his comment at his weekly news conference after he was told that some Democratic leaders, as well as Republicans, may turn down his request to join him in an inspection visit to several mental institutions.

Later he said the invitation was issued "primarily" to the Republicans who have proposed cuts of about 27 million dollars in Welfare Department requests.

"I think it's time they got off their seats in the Senate and get out and see what's going on," the governor said. "I venture to say three-quarters of the people on the Appropriations Committees of the House and Senate have never been in a mental hospital and have little conception of how it operates

If they want to sock the heart out of the mental hospital program that's up to them. But they should have the guts to see what's going on and not take the cowardly approach."

The governor described the mental hospital problem in the state as "an impossible situation we have about 40,000 people there and if we don't get the money they won't be able to leave."

"We just can't push one sides out of the hospitals," he added "I'm not going to stop until I put up the best fight I know how."

The governor also made these points.

—He has no plans for calling a special session if the GOP-controlled Assembly does not give him the bulk of his legislative program or budget requests be-

Ike at Sea on Carrier

ABOARD U.S.S. SARATOGA (UP)—President Eisenhower put to sea today aboard the pride of the Navy, the new 60,000-ton supercarrier, U.S.S. Saratoga, for a concentrated 24 - hour study of guided missles, jet operations anti-submarine warfare and defense against atom bombs.

The Chief Executive flew from Washington with most of the National Security Council and other top federal officials and boarded this angled-deck "floating air base" at Mayport, Fla.

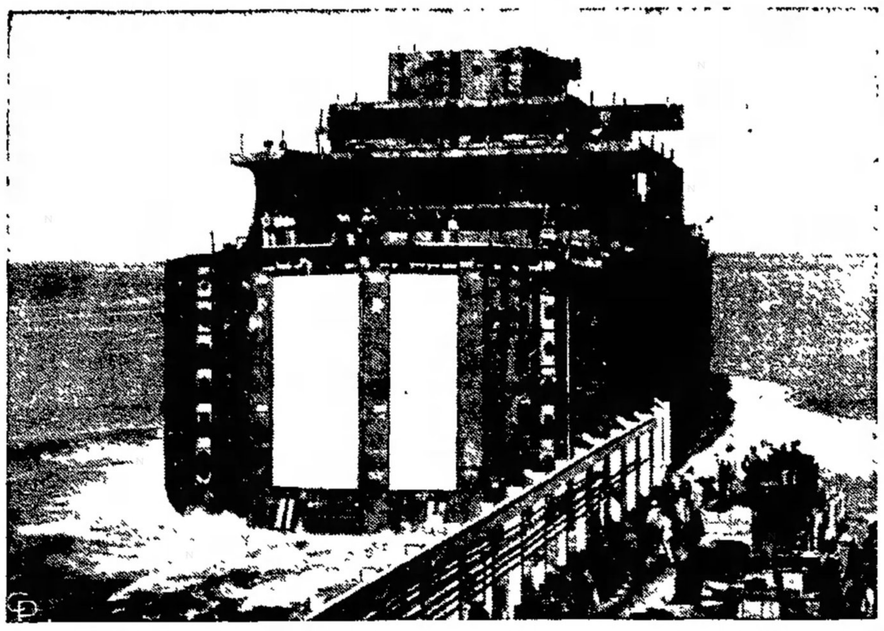
The President arrived at this St. John's River base from Washington at 10:28 a.m. e.d.t. aboard his personal plane, the Columbine III.

Fighter Welcome

Eisenhower was welcomed aboard by the screams of two Skyray jet fighters which were catapaulted from the massive deck of the carrier while she stood at dockside.

The purpose of launching the two high speed jet fighters as the President arrived was to demonstrate that with the use of steam catapaults, a carrier can put her planes in the air without being underway.

Accompanying the Chief Executive on his overnight cruise aboard the Saratoga are Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey, Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and Chairman Lewis. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission.



FIRST WINE TANKER (HALF OF IT, ANYWAY) — Forward section of the Angelo Petri slides down the ways at Bethlehem shipyards, San Francisco, the first (half of it, anyway) wine tanker ever launched in the U. The Petri will carry 2,383,540 gallons of wine on seven trips each year from California to New York, and on return trips will transport liquid foods, edible oils, grain spirits.

Defense Testimony Opens In Highway Macing Trial

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Defense testimony opened today in the trial of four former and present officials of the state Highways Department who are accused of forcing employes to contribute to a Republican campaign fund for the 1954 primary election.

In an opening statement at Wednesday's session of the macing trial, defense attorney E. V. Buckley told the jury that the law "has nothing in it to be construed as macing if voluntary and we will attempt to prove there was no coercion."

One defendant, L. J. Curran district engineer of the Pittsburgh Highways Department office, was dropped from the case Wednesday when trial Judge Samuel A. Weiss granted a defense motion for dismissal of the charges against Curran because there was no evidence that he had asked anyone to contribute to the campaign fund.

Also dismissed was a conspiracy charge against the remaining defendants, Michael Hertz, foreman at the Aspinwall Highways Department garage; Thomas McElheny, assistant maintenance superintendent in Allegheny County, Oscar Hohig, former maintenance superintendent and Alex Campbell, another former superintendent of maintenance.

Weiss denied motions to dismiss the macing charges against them, however.

Among the witnesses testifying Wednesday, the third day of the trial, was Michael Zaletski, Carnegie, a former caretaker for the department. He said Campbell, his superior, told him, "If you like to work here you will pay it (a contribution)."

Another witness, Robert Patterson, McKeesport, a former state truck driver, testified McElheny told him he was to contribute one per cent of his annual salary to the GOP fund. The witness said that when he asked to pay in installments, McElheny said, "No we want it all or else."

Several other witnesses told of contributing one per cent of their yearly state salary to the fund.

AMA Adopting 'Guides' in UMW Welfare Cases

NEW YORK (UP)—The American Medical Assn. has adopted a set of "general guides" intended to prevent the United Mine Workers welfare fund from designating physicians to treat fund beneficiaries. The proposals also would preserve the fee system of payment to doctors "except under unusual circumstances" to be jointly determined.

A report of the board of trustees, adopted Wednesday with one addition by the AMA House of Delegates, provides that application of the guides "in any given situation and the exact working procedures are to be decided upon between the county and state medical societies and the (UMW) fund in light of varying local conditions and applicable laws."

The report noted that there have been "continuing problems in relationships" between the fund, individual physicians and medical societies.

"The main issue which faces physicians today is the impact of the intervention of a third party—in this case the United Mine Workers fund—on the physician-patient relationship with respect to (1) the free choice of physician by beneficiaries of the fund, and (2) the method of remuneration of physicians," the report said.

Senate Okays Bill to Penalize Users of 'Fifth'

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Senate has passed and sent to the House legislation to bar unemployment compensation to persons fired from their jobs for pleading the Fifth Amendment when asked to testify concerning Communist affiliations.

The Senate passed the bill 34-8 over the objections of Sen. Harry E. Seyler (D-York) who contended the measure "is clearly unconstitutional."

Sen. Albert R. Pechan (R-Armstrong), sponsor of the measure said Attorney General Thomas D. McBride made it necessary for such a law to be enacted when he ruled there was "no foundation in law" for denying jobless benefits because a person takes advantage of a privilege granted him by the U. S. Constitution.

"Before Attorney General McBride's 'advice' security risks were not eligible for unemployment compensation since they would be considered to have wilfully provoked their discharge," Pechan told the Senate.

Seyler called Pechan's remarks "inflammatory" and said the measure would punish a person for claiming a right guaranteed him by the Constitution.

KANE, Pa. (UP)—More than 400 automobiles lined a fairway at Kane Country Club Wednesday night to light a runway for a private plane lost in a storm.

The single-engine Piper Tripacer landed safely and the three occupants, all from New York State, walked away unharmed.

State police said the radio-less craft buzzed this McKean County community about 9 p.m. in an apparent effort to communicate distress during a thunderstorm.

Radio patrol cars were dispatched to flag down vehicles on Route 6 near the country club, two miles east of here. A double line of cars, trucks, emergency vehicles and fire rigs were parked abreast with lights blazing on each side of the third hole fairway.

Shaken up but otherwise uninjured were Walter Peterson 31, Sackets Harbor, N.Y. the pilot, Warren Brown, 30, Adams, N.Y. and Theodore Detcher, 39, Evans Mills, N.Y.

State police said the men had been flying home from a business trip in Pittsburgh when they became lost in the storm and decided to attempt a landing.

GOP Meetings Today to Plan 1958 Battle

WASHINGTON (UP)—The top layers of the Republican Party organization assembled today to complete its preliminary planning for the 1958 battle for control of Congress — and statehouses and courthouses.

The two-day meeting—to be addressed today by Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Friday by President Eisenhower—is the climax of a series of campaign planning conferences set up by Party Chairman Meade Alcorn.

Six regional conferences before this national session have mirrored a growing turmoil within the GOP over the Eisenhower budget for next year and the administration program in Congress.

The basic objective of these meetings has been to find ways to overturn the historic rule that the party controlling the White House loses congressional seats in mid - term elections. The GOP needs to gain, not lose, congressional seats next year to recapture control of the House and Senate.

Farmer Hit by Shell on U. S. Range in Japan

GOTEMBA, Japan (UP) — A Japanese farmer was seriously injured Wednesday afternoon when hit by a fragment of a bazooka shell on a U.S. firing range on the slopes of Mt. Fuji, it was disclosed today.

Hiroshi Katsumata, 22, of Gotemba suffered serious injuries in both legs. He told police he entered the firing range to collect empty shells because he thought firing had ended for the day.

Japanese scavengers have been warned to keep away from U.S. firing ranges but they have disregarded the warnings in an effort to make a living.

The "off limits" regulations have not been enforced by Japanese police even after the explosion of the Girard case, involving the fatal shooting by an American soldier of a Japanese woman collecting empty shells on the Camp Weir firing range last January.

House Has List Of Servicemen Believed in China

WASHINGTON (UP)—A House foreign affairs subcommittee today assembled a consolidated list of 450 American servicemen believed captured by the Communists in Korea but never accounted for by Red negotiators.

The names were previously published piecemeal by the Defense Department but the department never assembled a complete list. The department has said it presumed all 450 are dead. It has paid survivors' benefits to their next of kin.

Repeated demands for information about the men have met with no response from the Communists.

The list comprised 244 Army personnel, 190 Air Force, 13 Marines and 3 Navy.

Dr. Frank Gregg, of the University of Pittsburgh medical school will speak on "Reversible Forms of Heart Disease".

Turnpike Trial Is Underway

HARRISBURG (UP)—The first witnesses were to be called today when the state begins unfolding its case against nine men charged with conspiracy in an alleged multi - million dollar swindle of Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission funds.

Dauphin County Judge Homer L. Kreider alloted time for opening statements to the jury by attorneys for each of the nine defendants. They will be made before the prosecution begins examination of witnesses, probably at the afternoon session.

In opening statements Wednesday, District Attorney Huette F. Dowling and Vincent G. Panati, deputy attorney general, said they would show that Thomas J. Evans, Coaldale, former commission chairman and suspended Commissioner James F. Torrance, Export and three other top turnpike officials conspired to defraud the agency of "millions of dollars."

Panati said the Manu-Mine Research and Development Co., of Reading, named by the state as the instrumentality of the alleged fraud, held a "favored" position in its negotiations with the turnpike for contracts for mine-filling work under the toll road's Northeastern Extension between Norristown and Scranton, and made a 100 per cent profit.

Manu - Mine president Charles W. Strikler Jr., who is on trial on charges of conspiracy and fraud, is married to Evans' niece. And Evans' son, the late Richard Evans, was a stockholder and officer in the firm.

Charge Prices "outrageous"

The prosecutors charged that prices charged by Manu - Mine for the filling work were "outrageous", and contended the commissioners gave the contracts to Manu - Mine without conducting competitive bidding, required in awarding construction contracts.

In the first of nine defense statements, attorney Earl V. Compton, representing Strickler, told the jury the Commonwealth's evidence was "circumstantial", and the defense would show by the prosecution's own evidence that no fraud was involved in the negotiation or execution of the contracts.

Compton also argued that a contradiction appears in the state's case against Strickler and the turnpike officials.

One of the four indictments being tried simultaneously charges Strickler conspired with Evans, Torrance and three other turnpike officials to defraud the commission of "millions of dollars" by the contracts.

Compton said that a separate indictment against Strickler and Manu-Mine vice president Clayton A. Landsidle charged they falsely represented the contracts to obtain commission approval.

"If they conspired with the other defendants," Compton asked, "how could they have used fraud to obtain their signatures on the contracts?"

Compton argued the competitive bidding requirement did not apply to "engineering contracts" for such work as was performed by the firm. Comparing the mine-filling project to work done by legal, financial and architectural firms, he said such "skilled services" may be done by any firm chosen by the commission without requiring bids.

Scheduled as the state's first witnesses were Albert E. Eberman, head of the state Bureau of Commission and Elections, and Harrington Adams, first deputy attorney general.

Eberman was expected to testify concerning the oaths of office taken by the turnpike officials and Adams to explain legal points involved in turnpike operations.

LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON — Taking a drink of water, Dave Beck Jr., declines even to say whether he is related to his father, Teamsters President Dave Beck, Sr., during his appearance before Senate racket probers. He used the Fifth amendment 130 times, leading Sen. John L. McClellan, committee chairman to smack him with contempt action.

Priest Backs Hoxsey

PHILADELPHIA (UP) —A Roman Catholic priest claimed today the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic, currently under fire by the Federal Food and Drug Administration, prolonged the life of his mother.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael Pasto, rector of St. Donato's Church here, said he would hold the FDA "responsible for the consequences" if his 80-year-old mother is not permitted to continue treatments.

In a telegram to U.S. Attorney D. Malcolm Anderson, the clergyman said his mother, Catherine, of Staten Island, N.Y., "has been kept alive and remarkably well for the last 11 months by the Hoxsey treatment."

"If we do not have access to the clinic, my mother's life will be jeopardized. I will hold the Food and Drug Administration responsible for the consequences," he said.

The telegram was sent from Mrs. Pasto's home in Staten Island. It was directed to Anderson who represented the FDA in an injunction hearing scheduled for Wednesday but postponed until June 24. The government seeks to stop the Dallas, Tex. naturopath, from accepting out-of-state patients.

Msgr. Pasto said he turned to Hoxsey as a "final hope" after New York physicians diagnosed his mother's illness as cancer. He said he feared the prescribed operation since his father, John, died following a cancer operation.

He said that since his mother started the treatments her tumor has been checked and her blood chemistry has improved.

Msgr. Pasto was ordained in Italy in 1926 and in the same year joined his family, which had settled in Staten Island. He served in several churches in the Philadelphia Archdiocese including Sacred Heart Church at Manayunk City, Pa., and Holy Savior Church at Norristown, Pa., before coming to St. Donato's 15 years ago.

New Buildings at Indiana College

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General State Authority will receive bids June 19 for test borings in connection with four projects totaling $2,362,000 at Indiana State Teachers College.

The projects include a music and arts building, a science classroom building, a dormitory for men and another for women.

and for payments to victims of occupational diseases.

The GOP delegation reportedly was prepared to restore about three million dollars each for industrial development and slum clearance. It also appeared ready to replace some if not all of the five million dollar House cut in occupational disease funds.

Sen. Harold E. Flack (R-Luzerne) said he told his GOP colleagues that unless the five million dollars was restored, occupational disease payments will halt next September "right in the middle of the statewide election campaign."

Flack said that if the governor is the Democratic candidate for U.S. senator, the issue might be enough to elect him. Flack represents a hard coal area with many anthro-silicosis victims eligible for occupational disease benefits.

The latest GOP timetable now calls for final passage of the general appropriations bill sometime next week—probably Tuesday. If the timetable holds, the bill will be reported to the floor today and advanced on Friday. However, the Democrats plan to offer a batch of amendments in an attempt to restore more of the 91-million dollars slashed from the administration budget by the House. Some of the amendments may be offered Friday but the majority probably will not be introduced until next Monday.

Stassen Buys Valley Forge Home for $27,000

WEST CHESTER Pa (UP) — Harold E. Stassen is carrying a mortgage of $18,900 on a $27,000 home he purchased at Valley Forge, it was disclosed Wednesday on a deed filed here

The document showed that Stassen, President Eisenhower's special assistant on disarmament, signed the agreement of sale last March and that settlement was made May 15

Purchase of the two-story Dutch Colonial home gave Stassen a permanent voting residence in Pennsylvania which tends to back up reports he will seek the Republica Gubernatorial nomination next year

The house is 14 years old, has three bedrooms, and is located on nearly an acre of ground Mrs Richard Quelman, the former owner, who still occupies the house with her husband, described it as small and "unglamorous."

Would Regulate Hours for Police

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Senate today received a House approved bill to restrict police forces of five or more to 40 hour work weeks.

The House passed the bill Wednesday, 128-58 in its second attempt at approval The bipartisan legislation specifies the police would work no more than eight consecutive hours each day and no more than 40 hours in any seven day period

Varied Recreation Program Is Planned

A varied recreation program has been planned for the summer months in Monessen.

A spokesman for the Recreation Department said today that the summer season will open officially next Monday and continue for 10 weeks, ending on Friday, August 16.

The annual playground picnic will take place at City Park on Wednesday, Aug. 14.

This year's summer program was prepared by Frederic Feldman, special events director. It will include activities for all age groups.

According to Feldman, the slogan for the summer program is: "For relaxation, go recreation."

"We want to encourage participation, discourage spectation," said Feldman. "Our instructors have also been told to emphasize the qualities of conduct that are conducive to the developments of good citizenship"

Here's a list of some of the activities planned this summer:

Tournaments — As usual, there will be tournaments for youngsters in a variety of sports, including jacks, table tennis, box hockey, basketball foul shooting, shuffleboard and golf

Arts and Crafts — Classes will be conducted at alternate play areas from 1 to 4 p. m. Monday throughout Friday.

Swimming — Swimming activities will be held at the Junior High pool under the supervision of John DeMillion.

Music — An extensive program is being formulated by the civic band, recreation band and orchestra Concerts are planned.

Tennis — Instruction will be offered at courts in City Park and Ninth St. Park.

Pre-School — Pre-school groups will receive their attention at Jefferson and Linden from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. New additions of coloring and story books will be featured.

Baseball — The city now has an extensive program for youngsters. There are two Little Leagues as well as PONY and Prep Leagues

Knot Hole Club — Youngsters between the ages of 9 and 15 will be invited to take two trips to Forbes Field for Pirate games The dates are July 18 and August 8.

Recreation Round-up — Once again the recreation summer newspaper will make its appearance containing interesting news from the playgrounds.

All city playgrounds have been painted for the summer season and a considerable amount of new equipment has been installed.

Special events are planned, including all-wheels day, a pet show, inter playground track meet, novelty days and an arts and crafts exhibition.

In all, the Recreation Department will staff 14 play areas with instructors.

Scientists Take Short Rest from Nuclear Tests

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—Atomic Energy Commission scientists took a rest today from the ticklish operation of detonating nuclear devices after completing the third test in an extensive spring-summer series.

The next shot was tentatively scheduled for Tuesday morning.

The third device in the series, possibly a "trigger" for an H-bomb, was set off Wednesday morning from a platform suspended from a balloon raised 500 feet above the Yucca Flat test site, 75 miles northwest of here.

Observers reported the device was one of the smallest ever set off in the United States Its blast, estimated to have been equal to 1,000 tons of TNT, sent up a fireball which lasted less than a minute. The flash was barely visible here

Licensees Must Use One Time

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Liquor Control Board has notified retail licensees if they choose to operate on daylight saving time they must do so for the entire period that time is in effect in their respective communities.

Board Chairman Patrick E Kerwin said such licensees must notify the board of the operation, but licensees electing to operate on eastern standard time need not send in a notification.

Legislation approved by Gov. George M. Leader recently enabled licensees to choose between the two operating times.

Greeks Study Status Of Forces Agreement

ATHENS (UP)—A committee of the Greek Parliament meets today to discuss the jurisdiction of Greek courts over American troops stationed in Greece

Under consideration is ratification of the Status of Forces agreement between the United States and Greece. Under the agreement the United States military reserves the right to try personnel for crimes committed while on duty. Greek civil courts will try American servicemen for offenses committed while off duty.

The Status of Forces agreement which is to be tested here shortly is the one under which a Japanese court was given jurisdiction over U.S. Army Specialist 3c William S. Girard, charged with manslaughter

The parliamentary discussion took on an added note of urgency in view of the filing of formal charges against an airman in a highway accident.

Airman 3c Marion Mousalli, of Benwood, W. Va., was the driver of a U S Air Force car which fatally injured Gen. Stafnos Sarafis, a hero of the wartime anti-Nazi resistance movement, last May 31. The general's British-born wife was seriously injured.

A special magistrate Wednesday charged Mousalli with:

—Manslaughter by negligence
—Causing injuries by negligence
—Breaking traffic regulations.

Police said Mousalli told the magistrate he would make a full defense of the charges Friday. His Greek lawyer and an American air force officer were present at the hearing.

Mousalli has been held in the Athens security police headquarters since the accident. The court will decide Friday on the basis of Mousalli's written defense whether to release the airman on bail or retain him in custody.

Liquor Agent Is Cleared Of Conspiracy

ERIE, Pa. (UP)—Basil Brady, suspended state Liquor Control Board agent, has been cleared of conspiracy charges but he still must face trial for perjury and blackmail.

Erie County Court tossed out the conspiracy indictment Wednesday on a motion by defense counsel Jesse Juliante Sr. Motions to dismiss the two other counts was rejected

Brady, 53, was named by Erie tavern owner Charles Wisniewski as the "brains" behind an alleged $100 extortion attempt on Joseph Miller, a tavern operator at nearby Union City.

Wisniewski, who has since been convicted and sentenced for his part in the scheme, said he warned Miller in 1954 that state liquor agents were planning to raid his tavern. Miller said he had to mail $100 to general delivery in Erie for the information.

Wisniewski was arrested when he picked up the letter. He said Brady, then working from the Erie office, had planned the blackmail attempt. Brady had since been transferred to Allentown, but was suspended by the board when his name was brought into the case

School Checks Are Released by State

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state today released checks totaling $4,772,262 to 669 school districts for tuition reimbursement for the fiscal year July 1, 1955 to July 1, 1956.

State Treasurer Robert F. Kent said they were the first districts of 1,050 throughout the state entitled to reimbursements for tuition of pupils attending schools located in areas other than where they reside.

Salvatore Pansino To Get Degree

Salvatore R. Pansino, of 516 East Schoonmaker Ave., Monessen, will receive a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering Tuesday at Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh

Following graduation, he will be associated with the Bendix Aviation Corp. as a junior engineer.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs Rocco Pansino.

Engineer Called Risk Because of Mother

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — An engineer considered a security risk for associating with his mother asked a special federal statutory court Wednesday to cancel a government hearing of his case.

Robert Webb, 26, Haddonfield, N. J., said the hearing scheduled for next Thursday before the New York Industrial Security Board would deprive him of due process of law and deny him the chance to "confront or cross-examine" witnesses against him.

Webb, an electronics engineer employed by the Radio Corporation of America, was considered a risk by the Defense Department which lifted his security clearance four months ago. Although still employed at RCA's Camden, N.J. plant, he was removed from all "security" jobs.

The Defense Department's action, it was brought out, was a result of Webb's "current" and "continued" association with his mother, Mrs. Catherine Webb, of Albany, Calif. The government claimed she was "closely associated" with Communism since 1940, became a party member in 1943 and remained in "close affiliation" until 1949 and "possibly for an undetermined period of time thereafter."

The government said it had information that "there is reason to believe that you (Webb) may be subjected to influence and pressure which may cause you to act contrary to the best interest of national security."

Assistant U. S. Attorney Herb J Morgan asked that Webb's c be dismissed and said the go ment would provide a "fair h ing"

He said that under defense r lations the government can " duce witnesses as it sees fit" ... claimed Webb "has not exhausted the remedies set up in the regulations" Webb's attorney, William J. Woolston, asked the special court to invalidate the regulations under which Webb would be brought to a hearing.

The special court, consisting of Judge Herbert F. Goodrich, of the 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals, and U. S. District Judges Allan K Grim and John W. Lord Jr., took the petition under advisement.

Soviet Subs in English Channel

LONDON (UP) — Soviet long-range submarines passed through the English Channel for an unknown destination Wednesday night, the Admiralty disclosed today.

The submarines were believed to be of the latest type with a displacement of some 2,000 tons and capable of cruising at long range over extensive periods of time.

The Admiralty said three of the submarines, escorted by minesweepers, were sighted.

The movement of Soviet submarines through the channel touched off speculation about their destination in government quarters, but official comment was not forthcoming.

A Dividend from Civic Progress

MONESSEN, it's plain to see, is beginning to collect one of the important psychological dividends of its efforts at civic betterment. This is a new pride of the townspeople in their community.

Local citizens have sensed this development for some months. But it is apparent now to visitors, too, as many remarked during "Cy Johns Day" on Tuesday.

Instead of speaking of our city in apologetic terms, we talk about what we have done to make it better and of the still greater things that are planned. Without disguising our needs and faults, we approach them as opportunities.

At the same time we are acquiring a new appreciation of our community assets. We are increasingly proud of our industries and of the obvious progress they are making. We are proud of our industrial employes and the important work they do, and many of them in turn are coming to look upon their jobs as something more than bread-and-butter propositions.

We can show our visitors a business district which, while still leaving many things to be desired, is constantly improving and now has several institutions which are as good as any in their lines almost anywhere.

Cynics hold that politicians are the same the world over, and perhaps they are. But if so, the present city administration is giving a very good imitation of public officials sincerely interested in community progress And nobody can exaggerate the importance of governmental cooperation and leadership in the sort of effort Monessen is making.

A Chamber of Commerce with a representative membership and efficiently staffed is able to act as a catalyst in all of this and provide a channel for the diverse energies required.

And so it goes. It becomes a pleasure for the citizen to talk about his town with his neighbors and visitors. And significant occasions like "Cy Johns Day" acquire more depth than the kind of "booster" activities which are routine everywhere.

* * *

THERE is some danger, of course, of falling into the habit of hollow boasting, which is not the same thing as honest pride. One of the first principles of effective public relations is not to talk before you have done something worth talking about. A Florida press agent can call a swamp a lagoon three times a day without making it anything but a swamp.

So we hope Monessen will be too busy doing things to have time for such nonsense. Our town will be a better town because we make it one, not because we put up some signs saying it is.

And let us not forget, too, that while there have been some important accomplishments, the really big jobs still lie ahead of us. We have yet to demonstrate that our capabilities are equal to our ambitions.

But with these reservations, this new civic pride is quite justified. It is one of the by-products of sound community progress.

Our Creed Tested

MANY PEOPLE undoubtedly are having trouble maintaining a degree of patience at the benavior of the Dave Becks, per et fils, before the McClellan committee. And the decent leaders of the labor movement are understandably impatient to get the Beck affair out of the headlines and leadership of the Teamsters Union into respectable hands lest the whole labor movement suffer.

But all concerned must remember that the Becks have a constitutional right not to incriminate themselves if that is what answering the committee's questions might do. And while the committee is talking of citing the younger Beck for contempt of Congress, it is wrong to assume that he is guilty of even that offense before the guilt is proved in a court of law.

Admittedly it is exasperating to have our principles of personal liberty put to the test in this way. It is a great temptation to brand as a scoundrel when what we know of his conduct tells us that that is what he is

But justice under the law does not work like this. Justice is blind; the law is the same for the guilty and the innocent, and the accused is innocent until guilt is proved beyond reasonable doubt.

This is the creed by which we live and we must not relax it, no matter what the provocation. The creed is not valid otherwise.

Merry-Go-Round—

Senators Say They Can't See President

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — One reason Ike is having trouble with his budget is that senators and congressmen seldom get in to see him. They can't even get him to answer letters. Every congressman who wrote a letter to Roosevelt or Truman always received a personal reply. Almost all who requested appointments with Truman got in to see him. He made it a point to see every congressman except Adam Clayton Powell, of Harlem, Democrat, and Mrs. Clare Booth Luce, Republican, of Connecticut. Both had once criticized Mrs. Truman.

Mr. Pearson

Not every congressman got in to see Roosevelt during the war years, but they did prior to the war.

One month ago eight Southern senators asked to see Eisenhower regarding what they considered CAB discrimination against Eastern Airlines. They received a reply from Gen. Wilton Persons, Ike's deputy assistant, as to why they couldn't get an appointment. Six weeks ago, seven senators asked to see Ike regarding Hell's Canyon They are: Murray and Mansfield of Montana; Magnuson and Jackson of Washington; Morse and Neuberger of Oregon, Church of Idaho.

After waiting a month, White House aide Jack Anderson wrote a long involved letter explaining why Ike couldn't see them.

Observed Senator Neuberger: "The President was willing to take time for conferences with Dave Beck last fall, but he hasn't time to confer with seven senators representing a part of the nation with the greatest natural resources."

Merry-Go-Round

Two famous neighbors are feuding over guided missiles. They are Gen. Nathan Twining, new chairman of the Joint Chiefs, and Gen. James Gavin, the Army's missile expert They are so sore at each other that they will hardly speak Ironically, they live next door to each other at Fort Myer, Va., and Gavin's little girls frequently call on Mrs. Twining . . . Gen. Tommy White, new chief of staff of the Air Force, has been trying for six months to get a light bulb for a closet at his Fort Myer home However, the Army owns and operates Fort Myer, so General White of the Air Force has to get the new light bulb from the Army. Apparently the Army figures it can save on the Army budget by keeping Air Force closets in the dark . . . Secretary Dulles was so worried about the 19-million-dollar slash in the State Department's budget for salaries and expenses that he personally telephoned Appropriations subcommittee Chairman John Rooney of Brooklyn at 8 a. m. Rooney was so impressed with Dulles' zest in fighting for his budget that he agreed to restore five million dollars of the slashed funds . . . Secretary Dulles has been vacationing at his private island in Lake Ontario. The sessions with Adenauer nearly exhausted him. He tires much more easily after diplomatic conferences since his illness . . . Scientists are perfecting a new anti-radar fluid that can be spread on the surface of the ocean. It will then bounce radar rays back and will be used to confuse enemy reconnaissance planes

Congressman vs. Tito

Installment-buying of American-style electrical gadgets is changing the Yugoslavs from Communists to capitalists," says Pittsburgh's GOP Congressman James G. Fulton, heretofore bitter foe of U. S. policy toward Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia. He has just returned from Tito-land.

Fulton discovered that the anti-Communist revolt in Hungary had produced "explosive" results in Yugoslavia

"It had similar effects in all the satellites, but particularly in Yugoslavia. The average Yugoslav today is scared to death of the Russians."

"To Fulton, this means Yugoslavia can never fall back under Soviet control Hence for the first time he is supporting economic aid to Tito — plus defensive military aid

"The stores are full of radios, refrigerators, stoves, and automobiles," reported Fulton. "All you want The wife says to her husband, 'Pay the next installment, and the husband listens. As a result, the Yugoslav people won't do the economic things their Communist leaders want them to

"The leaders are losing support being forced to do what they don't want to do

"People are still in jail But there's religious freedom now. There's a law against interference with a church service. I don't believe that until I went to a church in Osijek, near the Hungarian border.

"I said to myself, 'If I can participate in mass no one knows me and no one can come in.' Not for sale, I even rang the church bell!"

Krushchev Quite an Actor

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — In his first, free-wheeling TV panel-show appearance before the people of the United States, Nikita S. Khrushchev showed that if he ever had to run for public office, he would be a resourceful politician and a shrewd actor.

Given the opportunity to talk face-to-face to several million on the CBS screen, Mr. Khrushchev discerned the role he thought most useful and played it like a Barrymore.

Mr. Drummond

The role: the genial persuader of man, the good-hearted, good-natured, good Uncle Nikita.

He acted it to the hilt — bland, benevolent, peace-loving and, at some vital points, ingeniously deceptive, let the world have peace and let it have Communism, only when the people want it.

Like in Hungary!

Dodges Questions

Mr. Khrushchev never departed from his mood of sweet reasonableness and he showed that he can deal with a reporter's questions without answering them. Like this:

Question — "Can we assume that you will stop jamming broadcasts of the Voice of America"?

Khrushchev answers — "Our country is a very musical country. Therefore if it's a good voice we don't jam it. . . But if it's a voice which cuts on the ear, then every person switches off one's radio or jams that radio because that voice gets on one's nerves."

His questioner then pointed out that it was not the Soviet people who turn off their radios, that this decision is not left to them but is made by the government which jams the programs so the Russians can't listen

Mr. Khrushchev came back with this:

"You try to divide us from the people, that is an old tune, an old tune, an old record and no one is prepared to listen to that record any more."

And Mr. K. thus ended that line of questioning.

Recurring Theme

Mr. Khrushchev's alert and agile answers were underlaid and overlaid with one recurring theme which he never lost sight of and to which he returned at every chance.

It is a theme which sounded awfully good when Mr. K. wrapped it in plausible, smiling words and which, indeed, would be good if the Soviet record of actions over the past decade gave it life and substance.

"Let us live in peace," he said. "Let us develop our economy. Let us compete Let us trade with each other. Let us exchange experience in industry . . . in culture. As far as the question of which system (capitalist or Communist) will come out on top let history, let our people decide that . . . We simply believe that the people of each country themselves will come to realize that that system is best for them That is up to the people concerned to decide We have no intention of imposing our ideas on anybody. That is what I have to say."

That is the heart and hole of Mr. Khrushchev's bland contention.

Opposite Is Truth

Mr. Khrushchev's lovely vision, lovely words are: Let the people decide; we have no intention of imposing our system on anybody.

The truth is the exact opposite. It's a mirage

The Soviets never permitted a free choice for or against the Communist system anywhere, at any time, under any circumstances.

Ask the workers of Hungary. Ask the "hunger strikers" of East Germany. Ask the anti-Stalin Communists of Poland.

Truly, if the Soviets could ever bring themselves to mean what Khrushchev said on this point, there would be no armaments race, no cold war, no Poznan riots, and no serious East-West tensions.

There would be peace.

This is not to suggest that there were no important, serious, significant contents in the broadcast

There were The answers added support to the view that the Soviets want a disarmament agreement and Mr Khrushchev in this area revealed himself responsive and flexible He spoke with approval about inspection and control and said that the Kremlin was prepared to give up its all-or-nothing approach to disarmament and to go along with a modest first step in the hope that more can be accomplished later.

British Trade Policy Boost to Red China

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Great Britain's decision to relax trade restrictions against Communist China is clearly a development of world importance.

Reaction to the decision in the United States and other Western countries indicates that the Red government is being given a chance to work for general diplomatic recognition.

Mr. McCann

The relaxation, and the reaction to it seem likely to bring closer the day when the Peiping government is admitted to the United Nations.

Whether, as some experts believe, the ties between Communist China and Soviet Russia will be loosened remains to be seen At present Red China must depend on Russia for most of the goods it needs.

Nobody disputes the fact that the British decision is a big victory for the Peiping government.

Britain's lead already is being followed by other European countries which joined in the United Nations embargo against trade with the Chinese Reds after they entered the Korean War.

Relaxation Was Certain

The relaxation was sure to come sooner or later. To Britain and other countries—including Japan—which desperately need foreign trade, Red China with its 600 million people is a potentially unlimited market Not right now, of course China's buying capacity is limited. Britain itself calculates that its present trade with Red China, amounting to about 8 million dollars a year, will increase only to 56 million dollars.

The big development is the reassessment of diplomatic relations—or lack of them—between the Peiping government and other countries—that the trade decision is certain to bring.

Just how far, and how soon, the trade relaxation develops into a relaxation of the diplomatic boycott of the Peiping government depends on the Red Chinese leaders themselves.

If Mao Tse-Tung and Chou En-Lai, the two big leaders of Communist China, play their cards smartly it seems certain that they can capitalize on their present victory.

First, and most important, they will have to convince the United States especially that they have no aggressive aims.

Must Show Evidence

This means that they will have to give evidence that they will not foment a new war in Korea and that they will not encourage any aggression by Communist North Viet Nam against American-supported South Viet Nam. They will have to renounce any ambition to attack the Chinese Nationalist stronghold of Formosa.

The Chinese Reds also can help themselves by showing their political independence of Soviet Russia. Actually, they have shown this fairly plainly. They supported Poland in its successful revolt against Russian domination Fragments of a speech which Mao Tse-Tung made in Peiping in February, in which he criticized Russian policies unsparingly, are still leaking into Western newspapers.

As for the immediate situation, Japan is certain to follow Britain in relaxing trade with its Red Chinese neighbor It is likely that Japanese Premier Nobusuke Kishi will start thinking about recognizing the Red Chinese government diplomatically

Sooner or later the United States will start thinking too

The Woman's View—

Sales of Cookbooks Are Booming in U. S.

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Sales of cookbooks are booming right along with sales of all those foods which need little or no cooking

Publishers happily reported today an undiminishing "appetite" for every type of culinary guide—from such basics as the "Fannie Farmer Cookbook" to such specialized works as "Famous Foods For People You Love" and "Cooking With A Chinese Flavor."

Gay Pauley

And yet last year we spent a record amount of money on frozen foods alone — a leader in the gross work for mothers [illegible].

"They buy cookbooks to use, not just to read or for their collections," said Lois Cole an editor at Prentice. "But a good cookbook is good reading too."

Here To Stay

"Creative cooking always will be with us," said Clara Classen, cookbook editor at Doubleday. "Even with all the advance work the processors do, we women will improvise, will insist on developing our own specialties."

Other publishers add other reasons why from 50 to 75 new cookbooks appear each year — and sell

"Women have more time and more money to spend on food," said a spokesman at Prentice-Hall. "They're using both to create luxury dishes, instead of spending hours baking bread."

"Women buy cookbooks for ideas," said John T. Lawrence, of M. Barrows, which has published several dozen successes. "They want short cuts, want to know how to dress up a dish, stretch the budget, add variety. A cookbook now needs a special approach, a gimmick."

Specialties Newest Trends

Most publishers agreed the specialty cookbooks are the newest trend — although the classic "Joy of Cooking" has sold more than two million copies since it first was published in 1931

Travel has increased interest in regional and national dishes. Restaurants lend their names and recipes to others

Whole books are devoted to cooking with casserole, with electric skillet, electric blender. Others are confined to sauces, to souffles, cheese, rice, or eggs; still others to dinner for two, or for the weekend hostess.

Now publishers see a whole new culinary world to conquer in books on diet — fat free, salt free, or calorie low

At the White House—

Law Against Golf

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UP) — Backstairs at the White House

A well-known broadcaster provoked some hearty laughs with a bit of ancient Scot law he unearthed and showed around the White House

While President Eisenhower was at the Burning Tree Golf Course one recent afternoon, John Edwards of the American Broadcasting Company strolled into the White House lobby and displayed a 1609 edition of "Regiam Majestatem, the auld lawes and constitutions of Scotland" by Sir John Skeene

In the ancient law book was this admonition for the Scots who after all, invented the game of golf:

"no man should play at the golfe, nor at the futball under the paine of fifty shillings because they are esteemed to be unprofitable sports for the common gude of the realme and defence thereof."

Observed one White House staff member, "Sir John Skeene lived too soon. He would have made a fine staff member for the Democratic Digest."

Commenting on last Monday's cold chicken and potato salad party at Capitol Hill to the President and 200 Republican House members, a sage political observer said, "The way to a man's vote is through his stomach."

Eisenhower obviously believes similarly. He plans to have all GOP members of the House and Senate to a series of early morning White House buffet breakfasts, beginning next week

Persons unfamiliar with the ways of Washington might be somewhat surprised that a President would attempt to spread political joy and gospel at 8 o'clock in the morning when many people are grumpy and out-of-sorts. Certainly such tactics would never be attempted on a large, important scale in most other major American cities.

Washington, however, is peculiar in that the biggest men in town, including the President, the cabinet and many prominent members of Congress, go to work early. Eight o'clock in the nation's capital is working, and not getting up time.

As a consequence, smart Washington hostesses end their evening parties no later than 10:30 or 11 o'clock.

Surplus military weapons, including flares and grenades, are used by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service to scare off crop-destroying birds.

As he crossed the college "campus" a youngster spotted him and yelled: "Hey, are you Stan Musial?" The popular Musial said he was. Within a few minutes a crowd of nearly 200 youngsters had assembled. They kept Stan busy with their autograph requests. As a matter of fact Musial spent so much time with the boys and girls that he had to hurry back to Forbes Field without seeing Mr. Duda.

MHS athletic director Everett Pancook plans to have the school's annual sports report ready in a couple of weeks. That's always an elaborate compilation of the year's athletic events.

Townsend Never 'Grows Older'

Sherman Brizzi, assistant basketball coach at West Newton, claims the retiring Hornet boss Stewart Townsend "has never grown old." To prove his point, Brizzi spun this yarn at the Townsend testimonial the other night: "Towney and I were playing golf together. Both of our tee shots wound up in deep grass. I found my ball in a hurry but Towney had trouble. After some minutes of patient search, I shouted to him: 'Forget about the ball, I have lots; I'll give you one.' Shot back Townsend: 'I'm not looking for my ball, I've lost my club.' "

Kid Gavilan Wants Another Title Try

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — The hours and the hammering are crowding in on Kid Gavilan but the apparently ageless hawk of Havana still is dreaming of another shot at the welterweight crown he lost three years ago.

The Keed is an old man in the memory of the ring. His face has the pounded out flatness of a dinner plate and his ears are bent and twisted from the countless blows he has taken during a 15-year fistic career.

"But I am only 31," he protests, "so the years of the fighting mean nothing."

Knows Broken Promises

Gavilan gets a chance of sorts to realize his dream when he meets Vince Martinez at Jersey City's Roosevelt Stadium on June 17. The winner is hoping for a shot at champion Carmen Basilio but such is the interwoven state of the middle divisions that, no matter what the promises, Basilio prefers a crack at middleweight champion Ray Robinson.

Gavilan knows much of broken promises.

Whether you like his flashy maneuvers as a boxer, you have to admit that when he wore the welter crown he was a fighting champion. The Keed had it up for grabs eight times in three years. But he has been waiting for a never-held rematch ever since he dropped the title to Johnny Saxton in 1954.

They were almost two years of limbo for the Kid. He became a man who fought in the backwashes and on foreign shores as his name disappeared from the marquees. And it began to appear that he had deteriorated into a trial horse for the younger comers.

Kid Looks Ahead

"Not so," he fumes. "Ten times I fight. Ten times I win. Ten times the decision goes against me. The newspapers say the Keed he wins. The record book, she says I lose."

The Kid, with 136 recorded bouts behind him and a mark of 104 triumphs, refuses to look back across the busy years but with an unalterably sunny disposition scans the horizon instead. Fighting is all he knows and he refuses to believe he is over the hill.

"I am only 31," he shrugs. "Archie Moore must be 45 and still good. I have a long way to go yet—all the way to the title."

You kind of have to hope he makes it.

Lions and Eagles Win Openers

Lions and Eagles took opening assignments in PONY League baseball action last night at Ninth Street Park.

The Lions beat the Ravens, 9-6, while the Eagles bested CIO, 7-4.

Another twin bill is on tap this evening to keep the league rolling in high gear. Eagles will meet the Lions while the Ravens will take on CIO.

The Lions scored five runs in the first inning in tripping the Ravens. Even at that, the winners had to come through with three runs in the sixth to pull the game out.

Andy Carolla slammed a homer with a mate aboard in the sixth for the victors. William Dawson had a round-tripper for the losers.

Carollo also had a double and single to spark the Lions at bat. Ted Domenick went the route on the hill for the winner, rationing four hits.

Eagles Win

The Eagles scored in each of the first four innings to handle CIO, 7-4.

Carl Laszewski led the winners at bat with a pair of hits. For CIO, Harry Vernet checked in with a pair of doubles.

Last night's activity was preceded by a short speaking program which included Mayor Hugo Parente, Councilman John Kotch, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Joseph Pallone and Recreation Director Tom D'Errico.

Berra Suffers Nose Fracture

CLEVELAND (UP) — The New York Yankees today faced the prospect of being without the services of catcher Yogi Berra for an indefinite period because of an apparent nose fracture he suffered against the Cleveland Indians Wednesday night.

X-ray pictures will be taken today of Berra's nose, club trainer Gus Mauch said.

"His nose is badly swollen," Mauch said, "but we are not sure exactly how serious the injury is."

Berra suffered the injury during the second inning of Wednesday night's game, which the Yankees won, 13-3.

A foul tip from the bat of Larry Raines of the Indians struck the bar on Berra's mask and the impact from the ball drove the bar of the mask against the Yankee catcher's nose.

Perry Handles Van Voorhis, 6-2

Perryopolis scored five runs in a big first inning to handle Van-Voorhis, 6-2, in Mon Valley League action last night.

Barry Oldham slugged a double to pace the hitting for Perry. George Quattro had a triple for the losers.

Elks Regain Lead In Little League

The Elks regained sole possession of first place in the National Division of the Monessen Little League last night by tripping Legion, 6-3.

Meanwhile CIO nipped the Lions, 8-7, to move into a second place tie.

Over in the American Division VFW failed to win for the second straight day but that caused no alarm.

The front-running Vets were involved in another suspended game. This time they were in front, 17-4, when darkness closed in.

At the moment the VFW record is 4-1. However it will probably be 6-1 once a couple of suspended games are completed.

In another American Division game, Ravens outslugged Park Service, 14-12.

Katsuleris Homers

The Elks won their important game behind five hit pitching by Tom Maatta. At bat, George Katsuleris had a homer and single to spark the winners. For the Legion, Bruce Davis came through with a double and single.

CIO got a great performance, both offensively and defensively, from Von Williams in its win over the Lions.

Von Williams had a double and single at bat, then made a brilliant catch in left field to save the day. Buster Karenchak stroked a homer and double for CIO while Frank Destefano had a pair of doubles for the Lions.

Skippy Stevenson hit a homer and single in the VFW assault. John Sivie, Dick Steele and Myron Ciepley each had a double and single.

One-Hitter

The only hit collected off of VFW hurler Douglas Crusan was a homer by Keleman.

The Ravens paraded nine runs across in the fourth inning to nip Park Service in a wild game. Gerald Francia collected a pair of safeties for the wianers while Jim Saxon had three singles for Park Service.

Cro-Ams Defeat Ravens, 12-7, in City Softball

Times have certainly changed in the City Softball League.

Those proud Ravens, league champions more often than not, lost their third straight game last night, bowing to the arch rival Cro-Ams, 12-7.

The Birds have yet to win a game this season.

The Cro-Ams, of course, are doing much better. Their win hoisted them into a first place tie with MPSA.

A big seven run rally in the third inning carried the Cro-Ams to their victory last night. Dick Saflin sparked the fun with a grand slam home run.

Steve Telegraphis, the winning pitcher, also led the Cro-Ams at bat with three hits.

Macik Homers

For the Ravens, Ed Macik was top man with a homer and two singles.

Other homers were stroked by Kunsa of the Cro-Ams and Perrozi of the Ravens.

Tonight's City League game will send ULBA against PNA.

MFL Maps Program For 1957

Monessen's Midget Football League began mapping plans last night for its proposed new "business" venture.

The league's concession committee met at the Civic Center to discuss methods of staffing the new 90-foot long stand at Memorial Stadium.

The league hopes that concession revenues will be enough in the future to finance the MFL program.

Mrs. John Popovich and Mrs. Carl Laszewski were appointed to secure women to operate the Stadium concession stands on July 3 for the big Independence Day show.

Frank Talerico, Bud Beeler, Earl Crusan, Carl Laszewski and Jack Kerns were appointed as a purchasing committee. They will select their own chairman.

Harry McCraw, general chairman of the concession committee, presided at the meeting and reported that the league is "shopping" for a pop corn machine.

Make Arrangements

Alex Kachmarik, who was in charge of the MFL building program, said that arrangements have been made to meet with representatives of a cola company.

It was decided to hold another meeting on Wednesday, June 19, at which time all committees are to report on their progress.

McCraw disclosed that the fund-raising drive for the concession stand has now reached $1,624. This is still short of the MFL's goal of $2,000. He said that contributions are still being accepted, particularly from clubs.

Latest organizations to send checks include the Lions Club, C. D. of A., Quota Club, Local 1229; K of C., Ladies Auxiliary of the Hungarian Club; Ladies Auxiliary of VFD House 2, and the B'Nai B'rith Women's Auxiliary.

Douglass Named Greensburg Coach

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—William P. Douglass, 44, former center for the Boston Celtics professional basketball team, has been named head basketball coach for Greensburg High.

The former Westminister College star was appointed to the $6,900-a-year post by a 3-2 vote at a heated meeting of the Greensburg School Board. The board's athletic committee wanted the job to go to James Ribley, coach at Shannock Valley High.

Douglass was head basketball mentor at Greensburg from 1937 to 1946. He was coach at Brentwood High School last season.

Mon Valley Umps Meet Tomorrow

Secretary George Kuvinka said that important matters will be discussed.

Fayette City Raps Monessen

Ozarks Bow, 10-2, in Mon Valley League Action at Fayette Diamond

Fayette City had no trouble turning back the Monessen Ozarks, 10-2, last night in Mon Valley League baseball action.

Don Young, the crafty southpaw, stopped the Ozarks on three hits. And two of those safeties were of the scratch variety.

The FC sluggers hit safely in every inning and scored in every frame but the first. Both starter John Stetsko and reliefer Fuzzy Anderson were unable to contain the Fayette hitters.

Monessen's only runs were scored in the sixth inning when Carl Crawley beat out an infield hit as Pappy Johnson followed with a booming triple to right center. An error moments later permitted Johnson to score.

Other Hit

The only other Monessen safety was a roller over second in the fourth inning by Neil Hill.

FC opened the scoring with two runs in the second inning after two men had been retired. Sonny Trozzo started things with a single. Young tripled him home, then tallied himself on Ray Ermlich's hit.

In the third, Bill Lutes walked. Tom Parks singled and both runners advanced on an error. Ewing Bell delivered them with a single.

Three more FC runs came across in the fourth. Harry Muckle singled and romped home on Tinse Manown's triple to center. Henry Studnicki singled in Manown. Lutes walked and an error on Bell's grounder permitted Studnicki to score.

More FC Runs

In the fifth, Young was hit by a pitched ball and Muckle walked. Ermlich singled in Young. Studnicki walked to reload the bases. Lutes was hit by a pitched ball to force in another tally.

In the sixth, Fran Celaschi walked, moved to second on a sacrifice and scored on Young's singles.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Get Off Toes

When the contour of the ground forces you to stand with your feet above the ball, the only way you can hit the ball at all is with an upright swing. This means you will have to stand closer to the ball than you would in hitting a shot from a level lie. The distance between the ball and the hands, of couse, remains constant whether the ball is above or below the feet, or level with the feet.

The biggest danger on this type of shot is that, as you make your downswing, you are pulled forward by the force of the swing because of your precarious footing: and you hit the ball in the neck of the club — possibly to shank the shot.

To countract this, set your weight solidly on your heels at the start of the stroke and consciously resist this forward pull.

The natural tendency on this shot is to slice or push the ball This tendency is minimized, however, if you can manage to keep your weight planted solidly on your heels throughout the swing.

First WPIAL Title Team at MHS Proves Successful in Life, Too

The five basketballers who won Monessen High's first WPIAL title back in 1919 have proved as successful in life as they did on the gymnasium floor.

Every member of the starting quint has won a high position in business or industry.

The team reassembled this week to pay tribute to their coach, Stewart Townsend, who is retiring as an educator. It was the first time since they graduated 38 years ago that the 1919 Greyhounds had gathered as a unit.

The occasion brought back fond memories for these MHS stars of yesteryear:

Cecil Conn, now a mortician in Pt. Marion;

Kemp Conn, now a real estate agent in Pt. Marion;

Dr. James (Jay) Hutchinson, a city dentist;

Bill (Chink) Allison, a supervisor in the Pittsburgh Steel engineering department;

And Jack Reed, an official at the coke plant in Clairton.

Two Deceased

Two of the three reserves on that 1918-19 team — Chuck Lewis and Wallace Hood — have passed away. A third substitute, Frank Bumbaugh, was unable to make the reunion. He was in the south on business as an executive of a steel firm.

The 1919 basketball team, regarded by many oldsters as the school's best, won 17 of 18 games, losing only to Schenley, 25-24. In the WPIAL title game, Monessen defeated Bellevue in overtime, 26-25.

The big scorer was Cecil Conn, who averaged 12.3 points per game. That was an almost fantastic average in those days when baskets were few and far between.

Cecil's older brother Kemp, who later taught school at McKeesport High and Washington-Jefferson College, averaged 6.6 points that season.

Allison, the team's standout dribbler, had a 5.4 average while Dr. Hutchinson boasted a 5.1 mark.

Reed was the defensive star — a stationary guard — with an 0.5 average. However it was Reed who tossed in a long fielder which tied the title game against Bellevue at the final buzzer. Dr. Hutchinson then came through with the winning basket in overtime play.

The Conn brothers came to Monessen from Pt. Marion. And it was no accident they migrated here.

At the time, Pt. Marion had only a three-year high school.

"Originally we had intended on going to Kiski Prep for our final year," recalls Kemp Conn. "We had already met the Monessen boys since the football team used to come up to Pt. Marion for preseason drills. In addition we played Monessen in basketball the year before and lost by only a point.

"Moreover Townsend had relatives in Pt. Marion and knew our family. He talked to our father and before we knew it, Cecil and I were enrolled in Monessen."

Kemp recalled that it was quite a job finding transportation home on weekends.

Run out of Charleroi

"We had to take a street car out of Charleroi. The toughies used to run us out of Charleroi after our basketball game with the Cougars wound up in a riot," said Kemp. "It wasn't until Cuddy DeMarco, the old-time Charleroi boxer, threatened to handle everyone who chased us that we finally got safe passage through Charleroi. I'll never forget Cuddy for that."

Kemp jumped center on the team, while brother Cecil was the high-scoring forward.

Allison, the smallest fellow on the club, was a sensational dribbler who stayed close to the floor. One of the big plays that season was to have Kemp stand about 15 feet from the basket with his legs spread. Allison would dribble underneath to avoid his defender.

And the oldsters claim the play worked, too!

Contrary to popular opinion, the players then weren't much older than they are now. Kemp Conn turned 19 during the 1918-19 season. He was the oldest member of the club.

That means every player would have been eligible under current WPIAL rules.

All five starters of that season went to college. The Conn boys played for four successive years as varsity stars at Washington-Jefferson. Dr. Hutchinson continued his career at Temple.

Canadian Geese Fly Over State in Flock

Game Protectors in eastern Pennsylvania are still commenting on the exceptionally large and numerous flocks of Canada Geese they saw late in April, as the large birds migrated toward their nesting grounds to the north.

Following are a few of the officers' reports:

"Early Sunday morning, April 8, many thousands of wild Canada geese flew low over Lehighton and other communities in the vicinity. People crowded the river banks to view the spectacle. Autoists traveling through towns along the river created a traffic jam. Flocks of 500 geese were common all along the river from White Haven to Palmerton. An estimated 15,000 Canadas were resting on the water at one time. At 8:25 p. m. the northward flight of these birds was resumed amid a deafening honking, then thousands of the great birds were seen silhouetted against the evening sky." William Fulmer, Carbon County.

"In the last week in April the biggest concentration of Canada geese I ever saw arrived in my district. Every beaver dam, pond or strip hole that held water had geese on it." Norman Forche, Luzerne County.

"On April 28 and 29 I can safely say 1,500 wild geese traveled over my district. On the night of the 28th geese flew bewildered over the Mt. Pocono locality between 9 and 11 p. m. All the lakes in my area held geese." John Spencer, Monroe County.

Thousands of Geese

"Sunday morning, April 28, I witnessed the largest number of geese in flight I ever saw. The fowl numbered in the thousands. Later in the day wild geese were found on every pond and stream for miles around." Harry Rickert, Berks County.

"On April 30 I saw the largest flock of geese I ever saw — too many to count. There were geese on top of geese a mile long." S. E. Carpenter, Bucks County.

"Many Allentown residents were thrilled by the unusually large migration of Canada geese on April 28 and 29. Sixty-eight of the large waterfowl were counted on the ponds at State Game Lands No. 205. But two Canada geese that made one of the ponds their home in recent years drove the invaders off their water area." W. A. Moyer, Lehigh County.

The Game Commission's wildlife exhibit, housed near the entrance to the Hershey Zoo at Hershey, has been changed and enlarged. The park is now open, and visitors note that six new, educational wildlife displays have been added.

Improve Exhibit—

One of the new exhibits contains many kinds of artificial feeders which can be easily and economically built for wildlife. This display is particularly attractive in its winter setting. One of the realistic-looking new groups shows a family of wood ducks at its nesting tree. It shows the artificial-type nesting home the Game Commission recommends to overcome the present lack of natural tree cavities.

In striking contrast another section portrays the passenger pigeon. A mounted specimen of this pigeon, at one time the most abundant bird on the continent, reminds visitors of its unfortunate extinction. Two other educational groups are: 1. A pair of Pennsylvania's largest woodpeckers, the pileated kind, at their nesting cavity. 2. Squirrels, found in the commonwealth, and classed as game animals — the gray, black (color phase of the gray) and the fox squirrel.

Every year thousands of park visitors view the many species of Pennsylvania birds and animals and the other educational features, displayed attractively in natural settings behind glass at this free exhibit. During the next few weeks teachers will take term-end school children to see the wildlife education value.

Uncut Nesting—

A wildlife preservation program apparently not well known is the one in which the Game Commission purchases safe nesting cover on Farm-Game Projects.

Through this practice plots of alfalfa and grass, in which small game birds and animals nest in spring, are left standing, thereby assuring that much game that would have perished will remain alive to provide sport for hunters.

The farmer who participates in the plan may not cut his alfalfa or grass until after July 15. The program is thus instrumental in saving nests of ring-necked pheasants and bob-white quail particularly, as well as some rabbits and other small wildlife, from destruction by the cutter bar of the mowing machine.

Receives Plaque—

The Game Commission's booklet "Food and Cover for Farm Wildlife", authored by John B. Sedam, a Harrisburg staff game habitat specialist, was recently selected as the outstanding 1956 publication of its kind in the United States by the American Association for Conservation Education. For this the Pennsylvania Game Commission received a bronze plaque.

Judges who reviewed nominations submitted by AACI members were: Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson, President of the Wildlife Management Institute, and Mr. Charles H. Callison, Conservation Director of the National Wildlife Federation. Both of these national administrators headquarter in Washington, D. C.

Katusleris Wins In Net Play

Monessen's Mary Katsuleris has moved into the finals of her division in the Metropolitan tennis tournament at Mt. Lebanon.

Yesterday Mary defeated Karlene Linton, 7-5, 4-6 and 8-6, in the class for girls under 18 years of age.

Later Mary teamed with Karlene to defeat Carol Palmer and Brook Howard, 6-0 and 6-0, in doubles play.

Today Katsuleris and Linton will meet Linda Weir and Carol Lawrence.

A boy's doubles team from Monessen — Jim Baker and Ron D'Angelo — lost to Tom Senior and Mark Witkin, of Latrobe, 7-5, 4-6 and 7-5.

Pirates Lose to Cards, 5 to 1; Friend Belted

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Rain and a fan in the bleachers combined to make a miserable evening for the Pittsburgh Pirates Wednesday as they saw a four-winning streak broken.

The St. Louis Cardinals batted around in rain-interrupted first inning and scored four runs, the victory margin in their 5-1 triumph over Pittsburgh.

The Cards scored two runs on three singles, a double and a walk before action was halted for 54 minutes. They then returned to score two more runs on another single and double.

The visitors scored again in the eighth on Wally Moon's 11th homer of the season.

The Pirates, who could muster but five hits off winner Lindy McDaniel, strung three singles by Roberto Clemente, Frank Thomas and Gene Baker in the seventh for their only tally.

The Pirates meet the Cardinals in the rubber match of their three game series this afternoon with Ron Kline (1-7) scheduled for Pittsburgh against St. Louis' Murray Dickson (1-2).

Cincy Beats Phillies to Improve League Lead to Two Full Games

By UNITED PRESS

Birdie Tebbetts likes to kill 'em with kindness, so first he says the Phillies can "go all the way" and then his Cincinnati Redlegs promptly go out and beat Philadelphia to move two games ahead again in the frantic National League pennant race.

That's the way it happened Wednesday night.

Prior to the game, Tebbetts, that master psychologist, praised the Phillies to the skies, pointing out they might even win it all, especially now that they have a smoothie such as Chico Fernandez at shortstop. So what happens?

Fernandez commits an 11th-inning error that helps the Redlegs to a 4-2 victory.

Gus Bell started the 11th by being safe on Fernandez' bobble. With one out, pinch hitter Jerry Lynch lined an apparent single to center field but the ball took a bad hop past Richie Ashburn for three bases, scoring Bell. Roy McMillan singled home the second run of the inning off loser Dick Farrell and reliever Johnny Klippstein was credited with the triumph.

Dodgers Advance

Brooklyn took over second place by beating Chicago, 4-0, at Jersey City; St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh, 5-1, and Milwaukee nipped the New York Giants, 9-8.

The Chicago White Sox maintained their five-game lead in the American League with a 6-2 decision over the Boston Red Sox; the New York Yankees crushed the Cleveland Indians, 13-3; Detroit licked Washington, 3-2, in 11 innings, and Kansas City defeated Baltimore, 3-2.

Don Drysdale, the Dodgers' 20-year-old side-armer, set the Cubs down on five hits in pitching his first major league shutout. Don Kaiser absorbed the loss.

Nine home runs were hit in the Braves' victory over the Giants, including a three-run homer by reliever Ernie Johnson, who was credited with the victory. Joe Adcock and Bobby Thomson also homered for Milwaukee while Red Schoendienst and Hank Sauer each hit two homers for the Giants and Willie Mays and Whitey Lockman one apiece.

Dick Donovan pitched the White Sox to their seventh victory in the last eight games by holding the Red Sox to eight hits. The White Sox went ahead to stay with two runs in the fifth, Billy Klaus' error allowing one of the runs to score and Tom Brewer forcing in the other run when he walked Jim Landis with the bases full.

Gil McDougald was the big gun in the Yankees' triumph over the Indians as he drove in five runs with a pair of homers and a single. Mickey Mantle and Bill Skowron also homered in the Yankees' 16-hit attack on starter Early Wynn and three subsequent relievers. Bobby Shantz went all the way for his sixth victory although nicked for homers by Jim Hegan and Chico Carrasquel.

Top Soviets on Way to Finland

HELSINKI, Finland (UP)— The Soviet political team of Nikita S. Khrushchev and Nikolai Bulganin sped toward Finland today on a visit aimed at wiping out Scandinavia's memories of Hungary with a display of Soviet-Finnish friendship.

Premier Bulganin and Communist Party Chief Khrushchev were traveling with an impressive group that included Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, Culture Minister Nikolai Mikhailov, Security Chief Gen. Ivan Serov, Vice Foreign Trade Minister Pavel Kumykin and Deputy Chief of Staff Gen. Mikhail Matinin.

A small group of Finnish foreign office officials waited at the border station of Vainifkala to meet the Russians's train when it crossed the border. The big red carpet welcome by Finnish government leaders was reserved for their arrival in Helsinki at 5 p.m.

This was a quick return visit for Serov who spent two days in Finland last week checking security arrangements. A public uproar forced cancellation of his presence on the 1956 London visit of Bulganin and Khrushchev but he was in and out of Finland without being recognized.

The week - long visit will be crammed with sightseeing, receptions and dinners. Two occasions were set aside for formal talks but the Finns were close-mouthed about topics to be discussed.

Speculation on the subjects of the talks ranged from new trade proposals to military pacts. It was understood Russia might want to offer Finland more coal and oil and that Finland might be agreeable to expanding trade with Russia if it could receive payment in hard currency for depleted reserves.

State School Subsidy Bill Up for Vote

HARRISBURG (UP) — House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean) predicted the controversial $31,300,000 school subsidy bill would be passed today with lawmakers crossing party lines in the voting.

Both parties scheduled caucuses to entrench their positions. Johnson conceded he would not have a solid 125 vote delegation on the measure but said the Democrats also would not be able to hold their members in line to oppose the bill.

House action on the legislation Wednesday was postponed after the GOP caucus refused to accept proposed amendments by Democratic Floor Leader Albert S. Readinger. The amendments would have made the reimbursement schedule more palatable to Pittsburgh and Philadelphia assemblymen who claim the present bill would cost them several million dollars during the next few years.

Pittsburgh Changes

Rep. Maurice H. Goldstein (R-Allegheny) also has amendments to redraft the bill for Pittsburgh.

Also in position for House action was GOP legislation to raise the reimbursement ceiling level for state-aided school construction by 475 million dollars by the 1960-61 school year.

The House Education Committee brought the bill to the floor late Wednesday. The measure, sponsored by Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean) and party Whip Allan M. Gibson (R-Warren) would increase the reimbursement level by 50 million dollars during the 1956-57 school year.

State Agrees To Help with Town Planning

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Commerce Department today announced signing of contracts for technical assistance on projects totaling $17,500 for planning programs in two western Pennsylvania communities.

Department Secretary William R. Davlin said the borough of Monroeville, Allegheny County, and Penn Twp., Butler County, contributed half of the project costs on a matching fund basis with the federal government.

The $12,500 program for Monroeville calls for the Community Planning Services, Inc. of Monroeville to prepare maps and tabulations for each community public school building, public recreation facility, area highways and mass transit system, together with studies on population and housing.

The $5,000 Penn Twp. project, also conducted by Community Planning Services, Inc., will also study population and housing and prepare maps showing planning districts with available public facilities and street and property locations.

Finds Father Is Auto Victim

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Mrs. Paul Oliphant, 35, was shopping Wednesday when she was attracted to a crowd surrounding a man sprawled in the street.

Glancing at the man on the pavement, she realized with a shock that it was her father, Morris Osterman, 67, who had been hit by a car while crossing the street.

His condition was reported as "satisfactory" by attendants at Santa Monica Hospital.

Today in Congress —

Southerners Gaining On Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UP) — Members of the House civil rights bloc said today southerners may be gaining ground in efforts to wreck the civil rights bill.

They said the southerners have a good chance of forcing through a "jury trial" amendment to the bill.

Both the administration and civil rights forces contend the amendment would wreck the civil rights program.

The House finally headed into debate on the bill after days of arguing over procedure. A final vote is expected late next week.

Southerners openly predicted passage of the "jury trial" amendment. They also prepared to offer some three dozen more amendments next week after completion of four days of general debate.

Other congressional news:

Rackets: The Senate Rackets Committee called the top leaders of the Bakery Workers Union in the opening session of a new series of hearings. Committee Chairman John L. McClellan said the hearings would reveal that union officials misused union funds.

Fallout: Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D - N.M.) suggested that President Eisenhower proposed an agreement with Russia and Britain to limit radioactive fallout from nuclear tests. Anderson is a member and former chairman of the joint congressional radiation subcommittee studying nuclear fallout.

Richardson: House investigators asked the Justice Department to explain why it hasn't prosecuted a land case against Texas oil millionaire Sid Richardson. Chairman Earl Chudoff (D-Pa.) of the House Government Operations Subcommittee said he wants to know if some member of the administration is "hamstringing" the case. The subcommittee has heard testimony that Richardson sought to interest the President and other administration officials in the matter.

Status of Forces: Sen. Sam J Ervin charged it was "futile" to try to find out from the administration who first agreed to turn GI William S. Girard over to the Japanese for trial for slaying a Japanese woman on an American firing range. Ervin heads a subcommittee studying the case. Sen. Gordon Allott (R - Colo.) called for setting up a special committee to conduct a full investigation.

Aid: The Senate Foreign Relations Committee began drafting a foreign aid bill. Committee members hoped to finish work on the House - slashed bill by the week end.

Court Asked to Rule on Case of Retired Chief

The Washington County Court has been asked to decide how much, if anything, the Borough of Burgettstown owes its Chief of Police Henry Vega in back pay.

Vega was fired Feb. 15, 1954, by borough council but on appeal to the court, the firing was ruled out and Vega instead was suspended for 60 days.

During subsequent litigation which went to the State Supreme Court, Vega was not reinstated until November, 1955, or 19½ months later. The Chief worked for the Weirton Ice and Coal Supply Co. in the interim.

The problem for the court to decide, probably at the next argument term, is whether Vega should get the full $5,850, he would have earned as chief during the period he was not on duty, or whether the gross amount he made while working for the Weirton Company can be deducted.

Actually the borough has already given Vega $909.14 which represents the difference between the $3,850 as chief and the $5,608.56 he made working for the Weirton Company in addition to some allowances made for his traveling and other expenses to the out-of-town-job.

The court will apparently decide whether the $909.14 is sufficient or whether Vega is entitled to the $5,850 with interest.

Arnold Firemen Hampered by Plant Shutdown

The shutting down of the boilers at the Arnold American Window Glass Co. plant has put the firemen of that city in a ticklish situation.

For the duration of the shutdown, possibly all summer according to reports, Arnold firemen will be seriously hampered in being notified concerning fires.

According to Fire Chief Mike Frank, the big steam whistle cannot be operated atop the glass house without the plant boilers and subsequently all firemen in Arnold will have to depend on the air horn on top of the No. 1 firehall and the siren at No. 2 hall, Drey St., for notification of fires.

When the wind is wrong these sirens might prove not too dependable, Chief Frank said, however, it is necessary that all firemen do their best under the circumstances for the welfare of the city.

Two Roosevelts Are Bruised in Plane Accident

FORT SCOTT, Kan. (UP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and his pilot brother, Elliott, were bruised Wednesday when their light plane hit a fence on takeoff from the Fort Scott Airport.

Neither was seriously injured.

Elliott Roosevelt said the plane developed a brake drag and was slowed by a puddle of water on the wet runway. When he saw takeoff was impossible, he said, he cut the engine.

The Beechcraft Bonanza, a four-passenger plane, was damaged in the nose and wings.

Two passengers, James Smith Jr., manager of Franklin Roosevelt's ranch near Poughquag, N.Y., and D. W. Chittenden, executives secretary of the American Polled Hereford Assn., were also unharmed.

Elliott is in the cattle business at Meeker, Colo.

Cancer Scare Hasn't Halted Cigarette Use

WASHINGTON (UP)—A government tobacco expert said today Americans are smoking a record number of cigarettes despite previous reports indicating a link between smoking and lung cancer.

He said U.S. smokers will consume 399 billion cigarettes by June 30, end of the current fiscal year —3 per cent more than the 387 billion cigarettes smoked in fiscal 1955-56.

The official was careful to avoid predicting what impact the latest report by the American Cancer Society would have on smokers but he noted previous warnings caused only a temporary drop in consumption.

He said the decline recorded in 1953-54 coincided with newspaper stories, magazine articles and television programs concerning smoking and lung cancer. At that time, cigarette consumption dropped to 378 billion after reaching 397 billion a year earlier.

"The effect of the 1953-54 cancer scare wore off," the Agriculture Department marketing specialist said, "cigarette consumption leveled off for a time, and in the last two years the rise resumed.

"In the last two years we have had on three or four occasions a burst of new evidence of a possible cancer-cigarette link, but it has not affected the upturn. In fact, an interim report by the cancer society in 1955 apparently had no effect."

Matter of View On Gossiping

NEW YORK (UP) — Evangelist Billy Graham said Wednesday night that men are bigger gossips than women — but with a difference.

"When women talk a lot it's called gossip," Graham said. "But when men do the talking, they call it exchanging news."

Woman's Council of Church Plans for Many Activities

The Woman's Council of the Fayette City Presbyterian Church met Monday evening in the education building to complete business of the Spring season and to plan for Fall activities.

The meeting was in charge of the chairman, Mrs. D. Earl Daniel, and a report of the birthday party was given by the secretary, Mrs. Harry Shanks.

A decision to hold a mission study course was made. Nellie Hill, a member of the congregation who has served in Egypt as a nurse in the mission field, will be the advisor. The date will be set for the early Fall season.

September 24 has been set for the date of the September rally. All organizations of the church will join together to begin the Fall activities. The program for the rally is in charge of Permelia Baldwin. Mrs. Harry Williamson will be tea chairman; Mrs. Shanks, publicity chairman, and Mrs. John Hawker, telephone chairman.

The annual December bazaar and dinner will be held on December 5. Each organization will head a booth and will select its own name for the booth. The overall decoration motif will be in charge of Mrs. Mary Jaques.

Ten members of the council were present for Monday's meeting. Following the business session, light refreshments were enjoyed.

Morning Star in Memorial Service

The Morning Star Grange will hold its annual memorial service tomorrow evening at 9 o'clock in the Grange Hall near Grindstone. The regular meeting of the Grange will precede the service which is open to the public.

Special tribute will be paid to all deceased members of the organization, especially the two who have died during the past year, George Boyd and Paul Klass. Speaker will be the Rev. William Morris, pastor of the Redstone Methodist Church.

Tears on the Bus

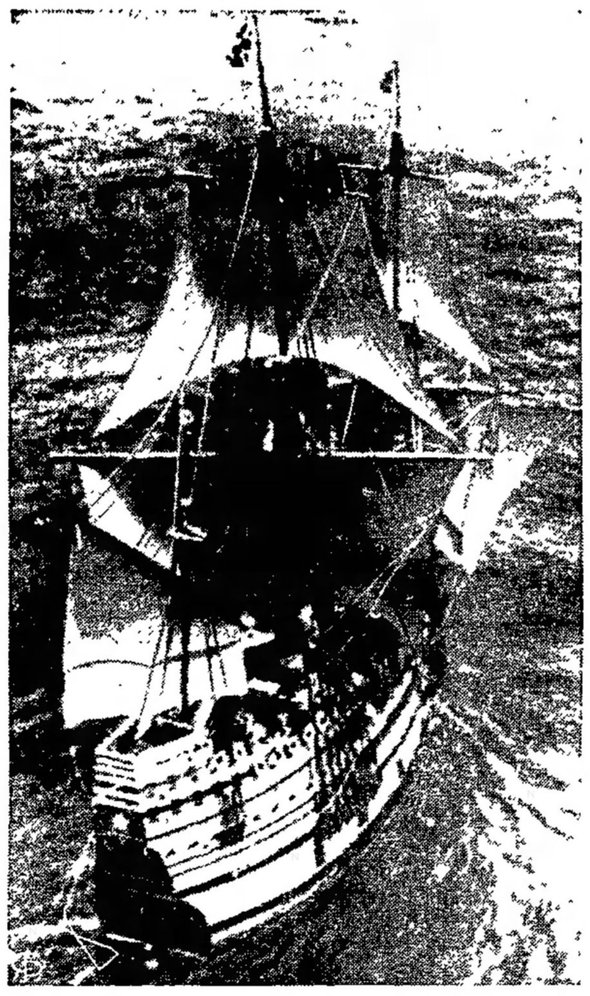
SAN JOSE, Calif. (UP)—A busload of 91 children went to school crying Wednesday. A 13-year-old boy accidentally fired a tear gas pencil in the bus, the sheriff's office said. They did not explain why the boy was carrying a tear gas pencil.

Legion Auxiliary To Elect Tomorrow

The American Legion Auxiliary to the Brightwell-Daugherty Post will hold a covered dish dinner at 6 30 p. m. tomorrow in the Legion Home.

This will be the final meeting of the organization until September. There will be a full business meeting and the annual election of officers.

Asia Minor was the birthplace of the hotel industry, which grew from the practice of travelers finding lodging in the homes of inhabitants while journeying to and fro between Greece and the Middle East.



HILL AND GULLY MAYFLOWER — Under full sail the Mayflower II hill-and-gully rides the waves some 250 miles southwest of Bermuda, following the path of the Pilgrims from Plymouth, England, to Plymouth, Mass. She set sail April 20, and here was seven-eighths across.

Madison Square Bomb Threat Is Investigated

NEW YORK (UP) — Billy Graham told 18,000 persons how they could keep their "appointments with God and be saved" Wednesday night. Only three hours before police had combed Madison Square Garden for what they feared was a bomb planted to explode during the sermon.

The audience was unaware that 25 policemen had searched the Garden for a possible bomb after a janitor found a note in the lobby that said in part "A lot of people will be kill."

Graham said that the woman at the well in Samaria (John 4:1) did not "just happen to be there and Christ did not just happen to pass through Samaria—He didn't have to go through Samaria because He was a Jew and the Jews and Samaritans hated one another.

"He went to Samaria to save that woman. It's the same here tonight. You didn't have to come here but you had a divine appointment with God. Every time I stand here I know someone is here by God's appointment."

Following the North Carolina Baptist minister's plea to his listeners to keep their "appointments with God," 622 persons recorded "decisions for Christ," bringing Graham's New York Crusade total in 22 days to 12,684. More than 392,500 persons have attended his sermons.

Investors Teed Off

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Thirteen persons who invested $6,500 in George C. Debay's "perfect golf swing" device are teed off. They complained in court Wednesday that the device was a bust.

Constable Aides Are Restricted By New Law

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today received legislation to restrict deputy constables to powers only within the ward, borough or township where the constable who appointed him was elected.

The Senate legislation would apply to all counties except Philadelphia. It was passed by the House Wednesday, 123-60 over Democratic objections.

Rep. Maurice H. Goldstein (R-Allegheny) said the proposal would particularly affect his county where he charged deputy constables were holding appointments although they lived outside the constables' jurisdiction.

"The purpose of this bill is to return home rule to law enforcement," Goldstein said.

Safety Belts Are Regulated

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader has signed legislation requiring safety belts used in automobiles to meet standards and specifications set by the state revenue secretary.

Violators of the act would be subject to a $10 fine and costs, or a five day jail term in default of payment.

The governor said the new law was "no endorsement of safety belts or harnesses.. nor is there any requirement that they be used." He said it was designed to prevent the sale of defective, inferior and dangerous devices sold under the label of safety belts or harnesses and was recommended by his Traffic Safety Council.

Trumans Get Look At Baby

NEW YORK (UP) — Former President and Mrs. Truman get their first look today at their first grandchild.

The Trumans, who entrained from Independence, Mo., seven hours after learning that daughter Margaret had given birth to a boy Wednesday, were due to arrive here today.

With them, they brought a baseball and a baseball glove, presented to the former President during a stopover Wednesday at St. Louis. Truman indicated, however, that he would prefer to see his grandson grow up to become a politician, rather than a ballplayer.

He 'Feels Fine'

Asked if he would like to see the boy follow in his footsteps and become president, he said:

"I wouldn't wish that on anybody. I would be happy to see him become a U.S. senator, but being president is too much of a burden for anybody."

How did it feel to be a grandfather?

"Fine," Mr. Truman replied. "There's no controversy."

Does he favor naming the 6½-pound boy for him?

"I haven't got a thing to do with it," he said.

But his son-in-law, E. Clifton Daniel Jr., a member of the news staff of the New York Times, said that "Truman will undoubtedly be in the name somewhere."

Buses May Get Tax Exemption

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Senate has approved a proposal to relieve bus companies in Pennsylvania of paying the state's five-cents a gallon gasoline tax.

Senate Majority Leader Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford) who originated the measure which now goes to the House, said it was intended to help hard-pressed city bus firms which are in financial difficulty because of declining patronage.

But before passage, the bill was amended to make it include all buses with a capacity of 12 or more persons transporting within the state. The change also would exempt interstate bus companies from the tax.

Miss Mabel Kopp Graduates from Duquesne U.

A degree in Bachelor of Pharmacy was conferred on Mabel L. Kopp Sunday at the 79th annual commencement exercises of Duquesne University.

During her four years at Duquesne, she was active in social and extracurricular affairs. As a freshman she sang in the opera "Faust", produced by the Duquesne School of Music Workshop, and became a member of the National Pharmaceutical Sorority Lambda Kappa Sigma, Tau Chapter at Duquesne. As a sophomore she served as historian for the sorority, its Vice President in her junior year, and president during her senior year.

On Friday Miss Kopp, in special services for outstanding students, was awarded a certificate of merit and a place in "Who's Who Among College Students in American Colleges".

Serving as co-chairman of the carnival committee for the student branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association this year, she was selected to receive the Gold Cup first-place trophy for the Duquesne chapter of the A. Ph. A. This prize is awarded annually by the Duquesne Alumni Association for originality, decorative effects, showmanship and general excellence of production.

Miss Kopp plans to follow a professional career.

Rostraver Twp. Representatives To Attend Event

The 12th annual convention of the Pennsylvania Association of the Future Homemakers of America will be held at Pennsylvania State University June 10-11 and 12. Twelve hundred members and teacher advisers, representing approximately 400 chapters, are expected to attend.

"The Future is in Your Hands" will be the theme of the conference. Dr. Emory Brown, Associate Professor, Rural Sociology, Pennsylvania State University, will act as coordinator of the forty discussion groups, assisted by Dr. Francis Whaby and Dr. William Smith, Jr. of the University.

The girls will be welcomed by a representative of the College of Home Economics and Mrs. Clio S. Reinwald, Coordinator of Homemaking Education, Department of Public Instruction, at the first general session Monday night, June 10. The session will feature a style show entitled "I Made It" with FHA girls from all over the State modeling garments made in their homemaking classes.

State officers for 1957-58 will be elected by the voting delegates at a special meeting Tuesday morning with installation at the closing session, Wednesday morning, June 12.

The FHA Chapter of Rostraver High School will be represented at the convention by Betty Theaver and Marcella Kerestes.

The voting delegate for the group is Betty Theaver. Chapter Advisor Mrs. Mary McAlpine will accompany the girls.

Women of Moose Elect Officers at Meeting Here

Senior Regent Naomi Brizzi was in charge of the social meeting held by the Belle Vernon Women of the Moose on Tuesday evening in the lodge rooms. Chaplain Irene Steinmiller gave the opening prayer and Junior Regent Thelma Smock led in the pledge to the flag.

Routine business followed and there were 23 members present.

Representatives of the lodge will attend installation at the Cokeburg Lodge, June 23, at 2:30 p. m. They will do the installation and other floor ceremonies. The local lodge will also attend Charleroi Lodge installation and do the opening ceremony on June 26 at 7:30.

Officers were elected with Mrs. Smock being named Senior Regent, Edith Thot, chaplain; Alice Maylen, Junior Regent; Margaret Lambert, recorder; Irene Brizzi, graduate regent.

Installation was planned for June 16 at 2 p. m. at the hall. Ann Klawcho will be chairman of the gift committee assisted by Edith Thot and Ethel Turner. The social committee will be Margaret Lambert, Nellie Hickle, Alice Maylen, Helen Henry, Mary Knaus, Ann Guth, Naomi Brizzi and Irene Steinmiller.

The women will meet June 14 at 7 o'clock to clean the lodge room.

Mrs. Edith Thot was in charge of the social assisted by Alice Maylen, Ann Thot, Ann Klawcho and Mary Knaus. The birthday table was set by Norma Soroka and the cake baked by Thelma Smock. The birthdays of Ann Klawcho and Alberta Brandon were observed. Each got a gift and birthday cake. Luncheon was served and a Dutch Maid party was then conducted by Mrs. Rose Lynch.

Winning prizes were Margaret Lambert, Helen Yanko and Rose Lynch.

A business session will be held June 18 with the executive session at 7 o'clock and the lodge session at 7:30.

115 Registered For Bible School

The Rev. James C. Puz, pastor of the First Baptist Church, who is serving as dean of the Daily Vacation Bible School, announced yesterday that about 115 children have registered for the two week course of study now in session.

Some of the classes are meeting in the First Methodist Church and some in the First Baptist Church.

On Friday evening, June 14, the closing day program will be presented and on the following day there will be a picnic at Monessen Park from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m.

Additional plans will be announced concerning the outing.

Catholic Daughters Plan Installation

Installation of officers will be held by Belle Vernon Court Catholic Daughters of America on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the St. Sebastian R. C. Church.

Mrs. Maude McCauley will be installed as Grand Regent to succeed Mrs. Virginia Abbott.

There will be a social meeting following in the church basement and a program will be presented.

State Commander Leslie Barnhart, of Uniontown, who heads the World War I Veterans, accompanied by Deputy State Commander Carl Younkin, of Belle Vernon, who is also a member of the State Legislative committee, visited recently at Tarentum, New Kensington and Elizabeth.

Edgar Ray McClain, one of the oldest members in the United States of the United States Army Ambulance Corps, attended a pre-convention rally at Hershey Clubhouse and will be present in Allentown at the USAACS 38th annual convention and 40th anniversary at Camp Crane. Mr. McClain recently planned attendance at the National Conference of Methodist Men at Purdue University.

Mrs. May Mitchell, of Belle Vernon R. D. 3, is enroute to Florida to visit friends in Orlando and Tampa.

Daily Vacation Bible School Underway Here

The Daily Vacation Bible School at the Marion Presbyterian Church opened on Monday morning and will continue through Friday, June 14. Classes are held each morning until 11:30 o'clock with the exception of Saturday and Sunday.

"Journeying With Jesus" is the program theme for the whole school and each department has been assigned a different theme. "Loving and Pleasing Jesus" will be the nursery theme with Mrs. Frances Oliver as the teacher and Linda Reeves and Marsha Posick as her assistants.

"Learning God's Way With Bible Children" is the beginners theme with Mrs. Marilyn Legg as teacher and Mary Ann Kovac and Cinda DePaolo as helpers.

The primary department will learn about "Bible Boats". Mrs. Elsie Adamec is the teacher with Mrs. Elaine Laskey and Sharen Richie as the assistants.

Mrs. Russell Cope and Mrs. Virginia Serenari are the teachers in the junior department with the theme, "The Christians Walk and Talk".

The refreshment period is in charge of Mrs. Ella Liptrot and Rudy Kobosky is the pianist. Mrs. Arlene Winters is the dean of the school.

Friday evening, June 14, there will be a closing day program at 7:30 p. m. The handcraft projects made by the students will be displayed and there will be a special program at this time.

The Rev. George Guest is the church pastor.

Class of 1932 to Reunion June 29

The Belle Vernon High School Class of 1932 will hold a reunion in observance of the 25th anniversary of their graduation on June 29 at the Park Casino.

A reception is scheduled for 6 p. m. with dinner to follow at 6:30. Reservations for the affair are to be made by the class members and their guests by June 8 and are to be sent to Mrs. Neal Guadagnino, 614 Grant St., Belle Vernon.

Edna Marston Class Meets; Observes 46th Anniversary

The members of the Edna Marston Class of the First Baptist Church of Belle Vernon met on Tuesday evening in the church social rooms for their regular monthly meeting.

A dinner was served at 6:30 p. m. in observance of the 46th anniversary of the class. The table decorations were made by June Boyce, who used the pastel shades of pink, blue and yellow for her color scheme. The silver numerals "46" were arranged in a center piece. Pink tapers and multi-colored favors completed the decor.

Mrs. Wesley Govier was the accompanist for the group singing. Miss Boyce sang a solo, "Hymns of the Old Church Choir" which was followed by a duet, "After" sung by Miss Boyce and Mrs. Wilbur Wallace. A piano duet, "Yellow Jonquils" was presented by Mrs. Govier and Miss Kathryn Lehew.

Mrs. Cora McFall, the class president and teacher, presided during the business session. Mrs. James Puz was in charge of the devotions and gave a meditation on the Twenty-Third Psalm. Mrs. McFall led the group in prayer.

The dinner was prepared by Mrs. Harriet Neil, Mrs. Bertha McClain and Mrs. McFall and was served by Mrs. Fred Trich and Mrs. Wilbur Wallace.

Members and guests present were Mrs. Elsie Allshouse of Scottdale, Mrs. Mabel Kopp, Mrs. Margaret Foster, Mrs. Cora McFall, Miss Bess McClain, Mrs. Bertha McClain, Mrs. Elizabeth Scott, Mrs. Albert Beaumont, Mrs. Mary Carper, Miss Kathryn Lehew, Mrs. Wesley Govier, Mrs. L. G. Krepps, Mrs. Mintie Corwin, Mrs. Austin Corwin, Mrs. Grace Boyce, Mrs. D. W. Moran, Mrs. Harriet Neil, Miss June Boyce, Mrs. Wilbur Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Trich, Rev. and Mrs. James C. Puz, Lee Wallace and Jimmy and Mary Ellen Puz.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Guadagnino, of Grant St., were recent Pittsburgh callers attending the wedding of Frank Guadagnino, their nephew.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Aspy and children of Clarksburg, W. Va., visited for a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Evan Thomas, of Fayette Rd.

Presbyterian Church Class Meeting Tuesday

The R. J. Linton Class of the First Presbyterian Church met on Tuesday evening in the church social rooms with Mrs. Russell Hoffman and Mrs. Ada Todd as hostesses.

The group sang "Standing on the Promises" to open the devotional program and then had responsive reading, "The King of Glory". Mrs. Viola Fox was the devotional leader and her topic was "Prayer and Praise". She offered prayer and read scripture representing the alphabet after which all repeated Psalms. She also read a poem.

The birthdays of Mrs. Elizabeth Nahar, Mrs. Ada Todd, Mrs. Hoffman and Mrs. Ralph Lehew were observed.

The July meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. O. Clawson with a "Height Party" as the feature.

After the benediction the hostess served luncheon.

Bruce McMinn has returned to his home in Belle Vernon R. D. after being a patient in the Monongahela Memorial Hospital.

IKE'S '60 PICK? — Word is going around in Washington that Alfred Gruenther (above), retired general and now head of the American Red Cross, is President Eisenhower's choice as his successor for the Republican presidential nomination. Gruenther's "availability" includes the fact that he is Nebraska-born, he is a Republican Catholic, and "the greatest thinking machine" Ike ever met.

Some Information on Glasses and Lasses

CHICAGO (UP) — Lasses with glasses with dark, ornate frames are "sophisticated and worldly." Girls with plain, rimless or gold-filled rims tend to wear conservative but expensive clothes. The Optical Manufacturers Assn. here made the judgments but reserved the most telling comment for last. Corner decorations on plastic rims reveal that a woman is "feminine, stylish, youthful, popular, intelligent and capable."

Use of Stimulants by Athletes Is 'Shocking'

NEW YOR K(UP)—The American Medical Assn. has ordered an investigation into the "shocking" use of stimulants by amateur and professional athletes.

Charges of "indiscriminate" use of stimulants by athletes, including school children, were made before the AMA's 106th annual meeting Wednesday by Dr. Herbert Berger.

Berger, chairman of the New York state Medical Society's committee on narcotics and alcohol addiction, told the AMA "the recent rash of four-minute miles is no coincidence."

The house of delegates to the medical association, after hearing Berger, said reports on the use of drugs by athletes were "shocking" and a "vicious practice" that should be stopped.

It adopted a resolution from the New York delegation requesting that "the indiscriminate administration of these stimulants or their use under the direction of non-medical persons be condemned as dangerous to our youth."

The house of delegates, the associations top policy-making body, then went a step further and ordered an investigation.

The resolution singled out amphetamine as an undesirable stimulant used by athletes.

Amphetamine is used as an inhalant or spray for head colds, hay fever and other complaints, but can also be taken in pill form. It is sold under a variety of trade names including Benzedrine, Phendrine, Allodene, Isomyn and Dexedrine.

Berger said amphetamine is sold in volume second only to aspirin. Manufacturers, he said, turn out six billion pills a year.

Leading coaches in the sports world immediately branded Berger's charges "ridiculous."

They were unanimous in stating that to their knowledge athletes did not use stimulants before participating in sports events.

Diesels Preferred

CHICAGO (UP) — Locomotive Engineer E. C. Baxter, 70, completes a half-century of railroading this month with the Chicago & Northwestern Railway but he's not nostalgic about the old coal burners. "Those old steam engines broke your back," Baxter said. "They jarred you to pieces. I'll take a diesel any day."

Secretary Wilson Speaks on Politics

BOSTON (UP) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, who has a knack for stirring up controversies with his pithy remarks, told a GOP dinner Wednesday night how he and a friend recently discussed Wilson's lack of political know-how. Wilson said he conceded he was no politician. "Yes, Charlie, we all understand that," the friend replied, "but what we don't understand is why you think you have to keep proving it."

Anti-Catholic Drive In North Viet Nam Is Watched Closely

By AL KAFF

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UP)—Observers here fear that an anti-Catholic campaign in the newspapers of Communist North Viet Nam might foreshadow a reign of terror against the church in the Reds' Southeast Asia outpost.

The campaign has been underway for two months. Officials of the American - backed government of South Viet Nam and Western diplomats are watching it.

"It is too early," one diplomatic source told United Press, "to determine what new course may be taken against the Catholic Church in North Viet Nam. But it is obvious that something unpleasant is in store for Catholics up there."

Priests Accused

Priests living under the Communist regime are being accused in the press of using the confessional and the pulpit for "espionage" and "propaganda."

Francis Cardinal Spellman, Roman Catholic archbishop of New York, has been mentioned in the attacks.

The attacks on priests have appeared in the Hanoi newspaper, Thoi Moi (New Timis), which is controlled by the Communist government and is often used to test policies before they receive official government sanction.

The official Hanoi radio got into the act by charging that South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem — himself a Roman Catholic and a recent visitor to the United States — was "trying to expel the anti-American priests from his side."

Cardinal, Politics Linked

The Communists linked Cardinal Spellman to this alleged political activity, saying that Diem "organized the American Catholic Relief Assn., which is headed by Spellman."

Hanoi did not use the cardinal's ecclesiastical title.

North Viet Nam claims it allows full religious freedom to the Catholics who remained in Communist territory after 500,000 Catholic refugees moved to the south in 1954 in the last stages of the Indochina war.

The church's highest representative in Indochina, Msgr. John Dooley, still lives in Hanoi. Little is known here about the conditions under which he lives and works as the Vatican's apostolic delegate.

TO GET DEGREE — Richard Lawrence Horvath Sr., of 1 Luce Ave., Monessen, will receive a bachelor of arts degree from Pennsylvania State University Saturday. He will attend the graduate school of retailing at Pitt in September.

Would Exempt Blind Vets of License Fees

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General Assembly today sent Gov. George M. Leader legislation exempting state war veterans totally blinded during armed service duty from automobile title or registration fees.

The House bill would amend existing law which exempts only veterans who lost a limb or were paralyzed. The House unanimously concurred Tuesday in a minor Senate amendment and sent the bill to the governor.

Postmen Are Beeping In Motorized Venture

ATLANTA (UP)—The postman always beeps twice in a growing list of American communities.

He makes his appointed rounds in a three-wheeled covered motor-scooter called a "mailster."

He stops at the curb, where any co - operative citizen will have moved his mailbox, drops off letters and rolls on to the next house.

In Decatur, a suburb of Atlanta, and Tallahassee, capital of Florida, the post offices are 100 per cent merchandized now. In 30 selected communities in Georgia, Florida, South Carolina and North Carolina, mailsters are sweeping the postman off his feet and into the driver's seat of a red-white-and-blue scooters 6-feet long, 5-feet high and 3 feet wide.

Mail In Compartment

Manufactured by the Cushman Motor Works of Lincoln, Neb., they are powered by a four-cycle air-cooled engine, can travel up to 35 miles an hour and carry 500 pounds of mail in the compartment behind the pilot's seat.

The system won't work unless home owners voluntarily move their mailboxes down to the curb. If they don't, time is lost rather than saved., because the merchanized postman can't cut across the front yard.

The post office is so pleased with the idea that it has ordered 1,500 mailsters to add to the 400 in use in the South and Washington, D. C. It has designated four "test" cities—Montgomery, Ala.; Phoenix, Ariz.; Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Lexington, Ky.— and plans to send test mailsters into California, Texas, Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma and Illinois.

One-Third Savings

Postal officials, who are rather money-concious these days, say the mailsters operate for 30 cents a mile, or one-third saving over a mail truck. The postman carries mail and parcel post on the same round, saves 45 minutes a day and makes up to 650 stops a day compared to 450 on foot.

The mailster needs further testing to prove its worth on hills and the ice - covered streets of the North and West. Not originally intended for the big city, it is nevertheless in service for some special deliveries in New York and Philadelphia.

Erie Legislators Against Cut in Funds for Park

HARRISBURG (UP)—Four Erie County legislators, including three Republicans, have sponsored a House bill to restore $190,000 slashed by the GOP from funds requested for operation and maintenance of the Pennsylvania State Park at Erie.

The bill introduced Tuesday would give the state Forests and Waters Department the full $345,000 requested in Gov. George M. Leader's budget for the park. The Republican dominated Appropriation Committee had cut the request to $155,000.

The money would be used for maintenance and contract costs for road construction, dredging, bridging and the erection of docks.

The bill was sponsored by Reps. Stanley Blair, Ford E. O'Dell and Delbert W. Dalrymple, all Republicans, and Democrat Julian Polaski.

Enter JOY's $32,000 contest! You may WIN A SGT. BILKO MONEY TREE

Laugh with Sgt. Bilko on the Phil Silvers Show each Tuesday night on the CBS Television Network

1st Cash Prize . . . $15,000 Money Tree
2nd Cash Prize . . . $7,000 Money Tree
3rd Cash Prize . . . $3,000 Money Tree
plus 7 additional Money Trees each worth $1000 cash

Write a last line for the JOY jingle in the entry blank below!

At last money does grow on trees! And the guy who's done it (wouldn't you guess?) is Sgt. Bilko. Fact is, Bilko's gone and raised 10 lovely Money Trees with a total of $32,000 in real cash sprouting on 'em. And you may win one, just by writing a last line for a jingle about new gentle Joy—the one liquid that makes dishwashing almost nice.

It's easy to enter! Lots of fun, too. The first thing to do is buy a can of Joy and read the label. Then try Joy and see how it takes the greasiness out of dishwashing. You'll get lots of ideas that can help you write a winning last line. So take the money-saving Joy coupon below to your dealer today and get started. Print your last line in the entry blank below.

FOLLOW THESE EASY RULES

1. Complete the JOY jingle shown at the right. Print your last line to the jingle in the entry blank or on one side of a sheet of paper. Print your name and address plainly.
2. Mail to "Money Tree," Dept. C, Box 24, Cincinnati 99, Ohio. You can enter the contest as often as you like, but each entry must be accompanied by the number you copy from the bottom of any size JOY can.
3. Entries must be postmarked no later than midnight, September 30, 1957, and must be received not later than October 15, 1957.
4. Entries will be judged for originality, rhyme, metre and aptness in completing the jingle. The judges' decision will be final. Except for incidental help from family and friends, entries must be wholly the work of the person in whose name the entry is submitted. Entries prepared in whole or in part by professional or compensated contest writers, schools, or services will be disqualified.

Only one prize will be awarded to any person. Duplicate prizes awarded in case of ties. No entries returned. Entries, contents, and ideas therein belong unqualifiedly to Procter & Gamble for any and all purposes.

5. Any resident of the continental United States (including Alaska) and Hawaii may compete except employees of Procter & Gamble, its advertising agencies, and their families. Contest subject to governmental regulations.
6. There will be one first prize of $15,000, one second prize of $7,000, one third prize of $3,000, and 7 additional prizes of $1000 each. All winners will be notified by mail.

Let's face it. Nothing can make dishwashing fun. But new gentle JOY does make it—well, almost nice. JOY, you see, puts an end to greasy dishwashing. Takes the greasy look and smell and feel out of dishwater. And JOY is gentle to your hands—it's been changed, you know—JOY is now milder than any other leading liquid. There's nothing else like JOY. Try it and see.

Cost of Atomic Power

CHICAGO (UP)—The first returns are in on the cost of atomic power for household use, and the experts are conservatively optimistic.

Argonne National Laboratory disclosed that the cost of producing electricity with its experimental nuclear reactor is running about a nickel per kilowatt hour.

This compares with a cost of ½ to one cent per kilowatt hour in conventional power plants across the country.

But spokesmen for Argonne and the Atomic Energy Commission point out that prodution of electric power from a nuclear source is in its experimental infancy, and the cost is sure to come down.

Furthermore, Argonne's power plant at Lemont, southwest of Chicago, is a research tool not designed primarily to produce electricity cheaply.

The plant has a 5,000 kilowatt capacity. A larger plant could be expected to generate power at a cheaper rate, scientists said.

For example, Commonwealth Edison Co., expects that its Dresden nuclear power station now in the preliminary construction stage near Morris, Ill., ultimately will produce electricity at a cost of 1 cent per kilowatt hour.

The Dresden plant, due for completion in three years, will have a capacity of 180,000 kilowatts, and the one cent hourly cost rate would make it almost competitive with conventional plants in this area.

'Little People' Organize

By LEON BURNETT

BLACK MOUNTAIN, N.C. (UP) — Dan Turner is one in a million—a grown man living in a world of giants.

When Dan grew up, in this little mountain resort town, it was to a height of only 4 feet, 5 inches. He's one of the "little people" who, according to medical authorities, number about one to every million of our population.

He's one in a million as a person, too. Ninety-six pounds of energetic good humor, a fast one with a joke, he appears to have not a single worry.

Behind his bubbling good nature, though, Dan is continually concious of several nettling problems that he and other midgets have to cope with. Back in April he and some 30 other citizens of abbreviated stature gathered at Reno and started an effort to remove, or at least alleviate, these problems.

Heads "Little People"

So now Dan is president-elect of the Little People, a group dedicated to such aims as getting half fare for midgets in public transportation, getting reduced food prices in restaurants and provision of public facilities scaled to their size.

"It's no one big thing with me," Dan says. "But there are so many little things. Like when I sit in an ordinary chair, or a theater seat, or almost anywhere, my feet won't touch the floor. My legs go to sleep all the time."

In a cafeteria he has to stand on tiptoe to see what's being displayed. He has to do a climbing act to use a pay telephone. He can barely see out of the conventional automobile, much less drive it.

Dan is excited about the Little People movement.

"We had a ball, getting together. But we also drew up a constitution and by laws. And there's a lot of interest in it. I've already received letters from 14 people who didn't hear about the first meeting and want to get in on things."

He towers over the present, and first, head man of the Little People, 3-foot-9 Billy Barty, one of the stars of the Spike Jones television show. Both are bigger than the financial secretary, Robert Hinkson, a government accountant from Washington, D.C., who is just 3-feet-7.

Dan Next Prexy

Dan was chosen to succeed Barty in the presidency when the latter's term expires in 1959. And he's already making plans to attend the next meeting, scheduled the first week in April next year.

One of Dan's favorite experiences concerned a man and the train.

On a hitchhiking trip several years back he was picked up by a kindly gentleman who immediately began to make "little boy" talk.

Alongside the highway a steam locomotive was panting up-grade with a long string of freight cars. Dan's host said, "Listen, sonny, do you hear what the choo-choo is saying? It's saying, 'I think I can, I think I can.'"

At this point Dan roars with laughter.

"Boy, you should have seen that guy's face after he asked me how old I was and I told him — 24."

Record Tornadoes Reported in U. S.

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Weather Bureau said today a record 634 tornadoes were reported in the United States during the first five months of 1957.

More than 100 lives were lost in the storms.

The bureau emphasized that the sharp increase in the number of tornadoes reported is due chiefly to expansion of its storm reporting network and does not necessarily reflect an increase in the number of storms.

House Approves Move to Lower Wage Tax

HARRISBURG (UP)—The House today approved and sent to the Senate legislation to force Philadelphia to lower its 1½ per cent wage tax to 1 per cent next Jan. 1.

The House passed the Republican-sponsored bill by a 118-71 vote over Democratic objections.

Gov. George M. Leader recently vetoed GOP legislation which would have exempted non-residents from payment of the tax.

Rep. Herman Toll (D-Philadelphia) said during brief floor debate the new bill would cost Philadelphia 12 million dollars in revenue annually if enacted.

Rep. Edwin E. Lippincott (R-Delaware), one of the bill's three sponsors, warned that if the wage tax was not adjusted it was "merely a matter of time" before surrounding communities would levy similar taxes.

Other sponsors were Reps. Peter J. Murphy and Clyde R. Dengler, also Delaware County.

Vegetables Are Tasty Plain or With Sauce

There are two schools of thought about preparing vegetables. Both are more concerned with the method of dressing them after they have been cooked. Most people have already been converted to the short cooking of most vegetable products in a small amount of water.

Then the vegetables are delicious with just a simple dressing of butter, sweet or sour cream. Others like a sauce of some kind that may be thick or thin. With beets and spinach a hot French dressing is popular. With chopped cooked spinach a cream sauce seasoned with nutmeg is a favorite.

A cream sauce is often used with onions. Sometimes it will be flavored with cheese, and this is also good with broccoli. Those large Bermuda-type onions are appropriate for slicing and baking particularly when arranged around a beef roast shortly before it is ready to be taken out of the oven.

The bunches of young carrots are tempting at this season. They are sweet and tender and need but a short cooking. Of course they can be dressed with sauces just as other vegetables can be, or they may be glazed. Diced cooked carrots combine well with celery or cauliflower, to which they add color as well as flavor.

BROCCOLI WITH CHEESE SAUCE

2 pounds broccoli
¼ cup toasted filberts or almonds
½ cup grated cheese
½ teaspoon dry mustard
1 cup medium-thick cream sauce

Cook broccoli in boiling salted water until tender. Chop filberts. Add cheese and mustard to cream sauce and stir over low heat until cheese is melted. Stir in filberts and serve at once over drained broccoli. Yield: 6 servings.

CARROTS AND BACON BITS

8 carrots
2 tablespoons butter
4 green onions, chopped
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup water
4 strips bacon

Scrub carrots well and cut in half lengthwise. Melt butter in skillet, add carrots and onions, season with salt and papper, and add water. Cover tightly and cook over low heat 30 minutes. Cut bacon in ½-inch pieces; fry until crisp. Add to carrots just before serving. Yield: 4 servings.

QUICK MEAL

Broiled steak, potatoes with parsley, broccoli with cheese sauce, relishes, buns (purchased) and coffee.

Ring Molds Provide Party Fare

Edith Barber

There is nothing more flattering than to be asked to be a guest at a small wedding reception. We can enjoy inspecting the wedding presents and admiring the bride's gown. In addition, there will undoubtedly be a lovely buffet table from which we can select at our leisure what we like.

The refreshments for a home wedding reception or luncheon are usually simple, as they should be. They should, however, be of the highest quality and prepared in such a fashion that it will be easy for the guests to help themselves. The decorated wedding cake on the table will always be a center of interest. The trend is toward flower garnishes that may be made (by the caterer) of frosting, or may be fresh.

It is possible to prepare well the other items for the table in the home kitchen. Jellied molds of chicken and ham are not difficult to make, especially if they are made in two portions rather than in one large mold. The latter is a little difficult to remove from the mold at serving time.

If rings are used, they can actually symbolize the double ring ceremony that may have been used for the wedding itself. Often, the sandwiches are cut in heart and bell shapes. Both coffee and wine may be offered during the first course. Champagne is often reserved for drinking a toast to the happy couple.

A MEMORABLE HOME WEDDING RECEPTION features twin jellied ring molds that can actually symbolize a double ring ceremony. The rings are layered with chicken or turkey salad, tomato aspic, and the centers filled with crisp greens.

WEDDING RING MOLDS

Aspic Layers:

2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
1 cup cold tomato juice
2½ cups hot tomato juice
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon sugar

Sprinkle gelatine on cold tomato juice to soften. Add hot tomato juice and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Stir in Worcestershire sauce, lemon juice, salt and sugar. Divide mixture in half and pour into 2 5-cup ring molds. Chill until almost firm.

Chicken Layer:

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
1 can (10 ½ ounces) consomme
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
2 cans (5 ounces each) boned chicken or turkey, diced
3 tablespoons diced green pepper
½ cup diced celery

Sprinkle gelatine on ½ cup consomme to soften. Place over boiling water and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Add salt and lemon juice and cool. Gradually stir into mayonnaise. Mix in chicken or turkey, green pepper and celery. Turn on top of almost firm aspic layers and chill until firm. Unmold and fill centers will salad greens. Yield: 12 servings.

Note: Diced chicken or turkey may be replaced by 1½ cups diced cooked ham combined with chopped pickles.

STUFFED CELERY II

1 3-ounce package cream cheese
1 tablespoon milk
4 slices crisped bacon, crumbled
½ teaspoon grated onion
1 egg, hard-cooked, chopped
¼ teaspoon salt
12 small celery stalks

Cream the cheese and milk together, then add remaining ingredients. Use for stuffing celery. Yield: enough for 12 small stalks.

2 Card of Thanks

MAGATZ — We wish to thank the many thoughtful friends and neighbors who extended us kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of Mrs. Mary Magatz. The ministrations of the Rev. John Gaspar, masses, floral tributes, expressions of sympathy, spiritual comfort, cars loaned for the funeral, and the aid of the pall bearers, as well as all those who assisted at the funeral will be remembered with gratitude.
The Magatz Family

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Joanne Molle, who passed away seven years ago today June 6, 1950
A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled
God in His wisdom has recalled,
The boon His loved had given
And though she rests sumbers here,
The soul is safe in heaven
Sadly missed by Mother, Father, Brothers and Sister

In loving memory of our dear granddaughter and niece, Joanne Molle, who passed away seven years ago today, June 6, 1950
There is still an ache in our hearts today
That passing years cannot take away,
A place in our hearts that nothing can fill.
We miss you Joanne and always will
Your memory is our keepsake.
With that we shall never part,
God has you in His keeping.
We have you in our hearts.
Sadly missed by Mrs. Esther Hott Mr. and Mrs. John DiBiaso and Family and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bover and Family

In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather, Joseph Gallotto, who died three years ago today, June 6, 1954
You are not forgotten, father,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes on, we miss you more
Your loving smile, your gentle face
No one can fill your vacant place
Sadly missed by Wife, Children and Grandchildren

Wilson Claims War Danger Is Still Apparent

BOSTON (UP)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said Wednesday night the danger of military conflict in the next few years may be increased unless the Communists abandon their idea of "conversion by the sword."

Speaking at a $100-a-plate Republican dinner, Wilson defended President Eisenhower's record budget and pointed out that the military aid program is one of the nation's most important contributions to free world security.

"If the Communists are willing to give up their idea of conversion by the sword ... we should have no fears," Wilson said. "Until this is clearly demonstrated in the world we must recognize that the danger of military action has not already lessened. In fact, it may well mean that over the next several years the danger may even be increased."

Wilson added there is "reason to believe that the rise of Communism has reached and passed its peak—in spite of Mr. Khrushchev's recent forecast.

Soviet Party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev predicted over CBS television network last Sunday that the grandchildren of his American viewers "will live under socialism."

House Approves Bill to Penalize 'Bad' Parents

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Senate today received House approved legislation to make parents financially responsible for the acts of their children under 18 years of age.

The House passed the bill Wednesday, 112-84, over Democratic objections that it would penalize both "good" and "bad" parents. Rep. Maurice H. Goldstein (R-Allegheny) said the legislation was "probably unconstitutional" and added it should not apply to negligent acts by juveniles.

The bill sponsored by Delaware Republican Reps. Mrs. Evelyn G. Henzel and Thomas H. W. Jones, would make parents liable for damages, injuries or destruction inflicted by their children up to $300. However, the bill would place a $1,000 ceiling on the amount to be collected from any parent.

Jones argued the bill would not only make parents liable to the acts of their children but also would curtail juvenile delinquency because the parent would assert more authority over his offspring

Blood Pressures Are Not to Be Grouped

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP) — On the question of comparative blood pressures of females and males, science has found that they are more or less the same at age 90—and that happens to be the age when the male has about the same life expectancy as the female.

Up to age 90, the female has a higher blood pressure than the male and also a longer life expectancy. What this means, science doesn't know yet, although, obviously, it isn't the reason or one of the reasons why females, generally speaking, live longer than males.

But the blood pressure of aged females and males is an important question to medical science. Seventy per cent of the males and 80 per cent of the females now 40 years old, will live to be 65 years old or older. You can see why medical men want to know what aged blood pressures are like.

Fascinates AMA

Drs. Arthur M. Master, Richard P. Lasser, and Harry L. Jaffe of New York fascinated the annual meeting of the American Medical Association with the first big-scale study ever made. They had the blood pressure readings of 6,000 men and women who were between 65 and 106 years old.

All were healthy, and so, presumably, the readings were "normal" for age and sex. In both females and males, the pressure when the heart is contracting, was on a rising line by increasing years up to the age of 75, as it is in younger years.

After 75, the pressure remained more or less constant in men and very gradually declied in women until 90 when females and male pressures are about the same. The female pressure got up above the male pressure around the menopause age.

The only conclusion the doctors could draw from this was that clearly women "tolerate" a higher pressure better than men. They noted there were "many exceptions" to their findings and "it is not uncommon for persons with quite high blood pressures to survive to advanced ages, often without significant disability.

"Actually, there is no sharp demarcation between a normal and an 'abnormal' blood pressure, for they often overlap," they continued. "The same blood pressure in one person may be found to be without any cardio-vascular abnormality whereas in another it may be associated with cardiac enlargement or other evidences of hypertensive cardiovascular disease."

They warned medical science against adopting blood pressure standards for the aged which are below the majority of the pressure readings of their 6,000 aged persons, no matter if these readings seemed "high." To do so, they said, would be to subject many old people to "unnecessary" psychological shock and to "unnecessary treatment."

What the doctor must do with old people, they said, is to relate the blood pressure to whatever else he finds. It's all very well to have rules of thumb about blood pressure in younger people (such as the idea that the blood pressure should be 100 plus the age of the person), but with old people there are no rules which apply. Each one is a case unto himself.

'Dollar a Second' to Fill Caesar TV Spot

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—The channel swim...

Jan Murray and his "Dollar a Second" will fill in part of the Sid Caesar Saturday night spot this summer on NBC-TV. "Dollar a Second" kicks off on June 22 and there's a possibility NBC may switch it to a weekday spot in the fall.

Murray also is pitching five other quiz shows at the networks—one is fronted by Jack E. Leonard and the other by Jack Carter.

A cornflake sponsor (Kellogg's) has bought the entire fall 5:00 to 5:30 strip on ABC-TV for Monday through Friday. Set for slotting are "Superman," "Wild Bill Hickok," "Sir Lancelot," "The Buccaneer" and "Woody Woodpecker."

Job For Rob Strom

A prominent electronics firm has offered to take over Robert Strom's education with the promise of a job when he graduates from college. Rob is the youngster who took away all the moolah from "The $64,000 Question."

The Miss America pageant, a breadwinner at ABC-TV the past couple of years, may move to CBS-TV this fall. Abbe Lane leaves for Europe and a movie with Fernandel after her final NBC-TV show this week.

Among the tales of fantasy that Shirley Temple may host on TV next fall are "Hansel and Gretel," "Gulliver's Travels," "Ali Baba and the 40 Thieves" and "Rumpelstiltskin."

The entire cast of "Lassie" has received the good news that they'll all be back in the show next fall, contrary to my previous report... "Omnibus" got the nod to alternate with "Wide Wide World" on NBC-TV next fall.

There's talk at NBC-TV that the Tennessee Ernie Ford summer pinch-hiter may be the new quiz, "High-Low," featuring Charlie Van Doren. NBC-TV's big spec for next fall, "Annie Get Your Gun" with Mary Martin, just got a definite date—Nov. 27.

Eli Wallach and his wife, Anne Jackson, will leave for London soon to do "Lillion" on the BBC... Raymond Scott, who leaves "Your Hit Parade" this season as bandleader, has formed a corporation to turn out commercial jingles—it's called "Jingle Workshop."

And this bit from Pat Buttram of CBS radio "When men have a birthday, they take a day off; when a woman has a birthday, she takes a year off."

Ask Investigation Into Stock Car Racing Safeguards

HARRISBURG (UP)—The House Rules Committee today considered a Republican resolution requesting the Governor's Highway Safety Conference to investigate stock car racing safeguards to protect spectators.

The resolution, introduced Tuesday, cited a Memorial Day accident last week at Shippenville, Clarion County, where two children were killed and three other persons injured at a stock car race. The measure said "this tragedy vividly portrays the need for adequate protection of spectators...and the need for supervision of the operators of stock car races."

The resolution would direct the conference to report its findings and recommendations to the 1959 Legislature. It was sponsored by Reps. Paige Varner (Clarion), Raymond C. Wilt (Allegheny), Samuel Mahan (Butler) and Willard F. Agnew Jr. (Allegheny).

Cost of Crime Is Pushing Taxes Up

NEW BLOOMFIELD, Pa. (UP)—The high cost of crime has forced Perry County commissioners to raise taxes.

The commissioners said after adding a three-mill institutional tax to the existing 10-mill county tax that the recent trial of John Forney, Marysville, convicted of killing his wife and mother-in-law cost the county $10,000.

"This, together with the mounting cost of administration of justice in other cases, has forced the commissioners to search for additional funds," an official said.

Your Health—

Get Full Benefit From Hearing Aid

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Many persons using hearing aids for the first time, and sometimes those who have been using them for awhile, make a common mistake. As a result, they don't get the full benefit of these wonderful devices.

In an effort to improve intelligibility, they turn the volume higher, thinking, naturally, that a louder sound will be a clearer sound.

This is not always the case, however. Better Hearing magazine advises that turning the volume lower often provides clearer and more comfortable hearing.

As an aid to those of you who might be inexperienced in the use of hearing aids, Better Hearing offers these suggestions for making initial adjustments:

Have one of your relatives or friends speak in a normal conversational tone about five to six feet away from you. Then turn down the volume until the speaker's voice is too low to be heard distinctly.

Next, turn up the volume slowly. But turn it up only to the point where the voice is heard at a comfortable level. Tuning it in too loudly will often cause distortion.

Such a procedure probably will be very effective in helping you select the proper setting of the volume control.

You may have to set the instrument each time you put it on. But with a little practice you will soon learn just where to set the control without any trouble.

Incidentally, you may need a new earmold every so often. Depending upon the individual and his age, the ear may undergo changes in shape in less than a year's time.

Question and Answer

Mrs. G. P.: My baby had a high temperature and convulsions about four months ago. What is the best way to bring down a fever in order to prevent recurrence of convulsions?

Answer: Of course you should call a doctor immediately when the baby has a very high temprature.

However, sponging the baby with half alcohol and half water and giving him an enema of cool tap water and small amounts of aspirin will help bring down the temperature until the arrival of the doctor.

More Mark Twain Works Are Possible

By DON THAKREY

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP) — A million and a half words from the prolific pen of Mark Twain lie unpublished and untapped in 11 filing cabinets held by the author's estate.

But if the plans of Prof. Henry Nash Smith materialize, Twain fans will have to build new shelves for their libraries. There is even a bit more Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn to come.

Smith, fourth literary editor of the Twain estate, wants to publish six volumes of the unpublished material.

Work has already started on another volume containing documents related to the composition of the Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn books. Edited by Walter Blair of the University of Chicago, it will include two unfinished pieces entitled, "Huck And Tom Among The Indians" and "Tom Sawyer's Conspiracy."

In addition, the Harvard University Press will soon publish a book of the 40-year correspondence between Twain and novelist - editor William Dean Howells.

All this, despite the fact that Smith and his three predecessors as literary editor of the estate—Albert Bigelow Paine, Bernard de Voto and Dixon Wecter — have already published 19 volumes since Twain's death in 1910.

At that time Twain left all his unpublished writings to be administered by the state, with the profits of publication to go to his daughter Clara, who lives in San Diego, Calif.

"It is possible that there is little of commercial trade value left," says Smith, "but there is much that should be made available for historians, scholars and others interested in the life and works of this great American author. "You could say we have now reached the scholarly phase of the publication of Twain's works."

Smith is professor of English at the University of California, whose press recently published his "Mark Twain of the Enterprise", a volume taken from Twain's writings for the Virginia City, Nev., territorial enterprise.

Extent Of Scholarly Phase

Smith thinks the "scholarly phase" could include these volumes:

—Additional notebooks to those already published, including the Mississippi River notebook of 1882.

—Unpublished literary manuscripts, including sketches and stories, many incomplete.

—Documents bearing on the "Mysterious Stranger," the book Twain directed withheld until after his death due to its pessimistic philosophy.

—Twain's business letters dealing with such enterprises as the typesetting invention and the publishing house he backed.

—A miscellaneous volume of letters, which Smith calls a "mop-up," which would include a calendar of all Twain's letters.

14,000 Persons Killed on Farms

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Agriculture Department said today 14,000 farm persons were killed by accidents each year from 1950 through 1955.

Farm work accidents killed an average of 3,900 farm persons each year for the period, the department said, citing National Safety Council figures.

Americans Will Spend More on Goods, Service Than Last Year

By ROBERT SHORTAL

NEW YORK (UP) — Americans are going to shell out more than a quarter of a trillion dollars this year for goods and services.

This record 277 billion dollars will go for everything — automobiles, houses, clothes, ice cream sodas, haircuts, vacations and even a few bets on the ponies. It averages about $1,600 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

It will be about 10 billion dollars more than we spent last year. It will help keep the wheel of industry humming along at a prosperous clip.

Increased government and business spending will add fuel to the rise which is expected to carry the gross national product — the value of all goods and services produced — to a new peak of 435 billion dollars this year.

Consumers Most Important

Consumer spending is the most important cog in the wheel — six times the amount to be spent on industrial expansion and three times the outlay by government.

In most cases, the consumer appears to be better off financially than ever before. Disposable income is at a record high. Savings and employment are near their best levels. The economic outlook, on the cloudy side a few months ago, has brightened considerably and many experts look for better business in the months ahead.

All these factors, economists predict, will combine to keep consumers in a buying mood.

More Expansion Seen

Industry is expected to spend some 37 billion dollars for expansion, a gain of 2 billion dollars over 1956. Federal, state and local governments will shell out around 106 billion dollars up more than 6 billion dollars from last year.

The picture is not all rosy, however. The economy this year has been going through a rolling adjustment — some industries declining and some advancing. The over-all result has been a general levelling off in the economy.

Inflation is another bugaboo. Economists figure that at least half the gains in spending this year will be the result of higher prices. The other half will reflect increases in unit volume.

Living costs in the United States have hit new all-time highs in each of the past eight months, and recent wage and price increases leave little hope of an early reversal.

Three Bills on Movie Censors

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Senate today had the choice among three bills aimed at reviving motion picture censorship in Pennsylvania.

The problem is to select one that meets possible tests of legality before the U. S. Supreme Court which had ruled previous censorship boards in Pennsylvania and several other states unconstitutional.

One bill on the chamber's work calendar was joined by two others Tuesday after committee approval. Sen. William J. Lane (D-Washington) said he hoped a study of the three measures might result in a decision on the one most likely to withstand court tests.
